French Premier-Designate Mayer Attempts Coalition

PARIS (UP)—Rene Mayer, Radical Socialist former Finance Minister, was named Premier-designate today, accepting a Presidential assignment to try to form a Coalition cabinet.

Mayer will go before the National Assembly tomorrow to seek a vote of confidence as Premier. The 54-year-old financial expert accepted President Vincent Auriol's request to try to resolve the government crisis now nearing the end of its second week.

He conferred with Auriol at the Elysee Palace at midday, and afterward his acceptance of the nomination was announced.

The former Finance Minister's "Mayer Plan" was credited with saving the inflation-threatened franc in the spring of 1948.

He was called in by the President after the failure of Jules Moch to get an agreement by the Centrist parties on a new coalition government.

Mayer accepted the bid after getting go-ahead signals from the three main middle of the road parties, the Socialists, Radical Socialists and Popular Republicans.

Political experts said Mayer might get 330 to 335 Assembly votes. His confirmation would require a minimum of 311.

Canadian Destroyer Haida Shares Exercise With U.S.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian Navy today assigned a destroyer to join United States fleet units in an amphibious assault exercise near Cape Porcupine, Labrador, this weekend.

An announcement said the Tribal Class destroyer Haida, battle-scarred veteran of Atlantic convoy work in World War II, and five Canadian Army observers would join U.S. ships and planes in a mock battle with Oct. 22 listed as "D-day."

Some 11,000 personnel were expected to take part in the project, part of a continuing preparedness program designed to test latest techniques of land and sea warfare.

The assault will be spearheaded by United States Marines, whose objective will be a supposedly enemy-held weather station that could be expanded into an emergency airstrip.

Plans called for inclusion of 41 ships, including the Haida, in the amphibious attacking force. They will include an aircraft carrier.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy today and Thursday; a little milder. Light winds. Low tonight, 40; high Thursday, 52.

Hurricane Veers, Now Parallel To Atlantic Coast

HALIFAX (BUP)—A fierce tropical hurricane, which churned the Atlantic with 75-mile-per-hour winds, veered again today and howled along a course parallel to the coast.

The storm, which tossed giant liners in its wake, had been expected to strike the coast this afternoon. But late reports from the Dominion Public Weather Office said winds would not hit more than 25 miles an hour over the mainland.

By late morning, there had been no distress calls from ships. However, search and rescue organizations were on the alert.

The storm was running toward Newfoundland, and weather officials said its main force would be spent at sea.

The hurricane was the worst in a series of storms whipping the North Atlantic from North America to Britain.

10,000 DELAYED

The luxury liners Queen Elizabeth and Nieuw Amsterdam and seven U.S. army transports carrying more than 10,000 passengers were delayed from several hours to as much as a day by the severe weather.

A French freighter, unable to operate its engines in the stormy seas, hove to off the New Jersey coast awaiting a tow to port.

The Canadian Weather Bureau said the storm was moving toward the coast at a speed of nine miles with 75-mile-an-hour winds toward the centre and winds of 25 to 40 miles an hour on the periphery.

Marine and air search authorities are alerted to aid any shipwrecked in distress.

U.S. weather officials warned of worsening weather along the entire North Atlantic coast. Storm warnings were up from Block Island to the Delaware Breakwater.

Gale winds and high seas battered the French freighter Cean which wallowed helplessly 150 miles due east of Cape May, N.J., with its engines dead.

Four Degrees Frost; List Milder Weather

ALTHOUGH Victorians awoke this morning to find the weather more milder than on Tuesday when a biting north wind chilled this area, four degrees of frost were recorded at the Gonzales Heights Meteorological Observatory overnight.

William Burton, superintendent at the local weather station, reported the minimum temperature recorded Tuesday night was 34 degrees, and the minimum on the grass was only 28 degrees.

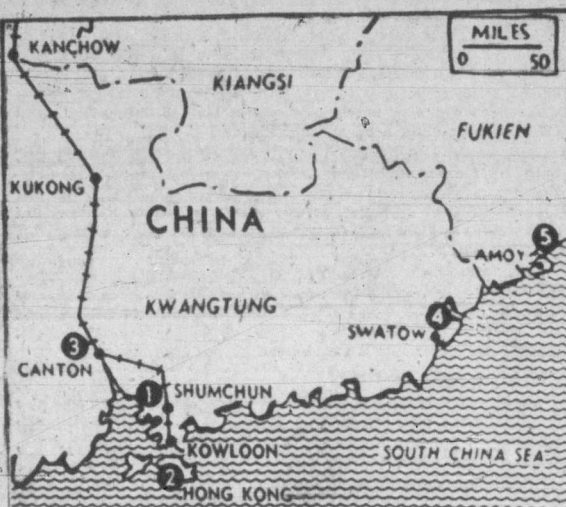

The latest official forecast for the Victoria area lists milder weather, however, with cloudy skies. Northeast winds will drop down to light for the next two days, according to the prognosticators. The minimum temperature forecast for tonight is 40 degrees.

According to the officer, caterpillar tractor operator Donald Young had placed logging tongs around a log to haul it out when another log rolled down the embankment and Graham was crushed between the two. Death was almost instantaneous.

100 Miners Killed

BERLIN (AP)—The British-licensed newspaper Der Tag reported today 100 German miners were killed when a Soviet-exploited mine at Oberschlema, Thuringia, in Eastern Germany collapsed Oct. 8. The paper said "a sudden rush of water drowned the whole pit, burying alive 100 miners."

Red Sweep In South China

Chinese Communist troops are standing now at Hong-kong's northern border at Shumchun (1) and are holding positions facing British troops across a waterway which was spanned by a bridge till it was destroyed. Shumchun, 18 miles north of downtown Hongkong (2), was a major crossing point on both the highway and rail line leading to Hongkong from Communist-occupied Canton (3). Some 40,000 British troops are in the Hong-kong area. Nationalist troops evacuated Swatow (4) and Amoy (5), which were taken over by Communist troops. (NEA Photo)

Attlee Being Pressed To Cut Defence Costs

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee was under heavy pressure today to reduce defence costs of Britain.

Attlee and his cabinet are trying to shape a new economy program to cut Britain's costs and save dollars.

The Liberal London Evening Star hinted Attlee's hunt for ways to save money might bring about a cabinet crisis. The newspaper said "there were rumors in Whitehall today of some disagreement inside the cabinet over the new economies to be announced by Attlee on Monday."

"If agreement cannot be reached inside the cabinet there might be government changes," the Star added.

Demands for paring army, navy and air force spending are coming from some sections of the 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress and left-wingers inside the Labor Party.

Defence costs this year are about £760,000,000 ($2,356,000,000), almost a quarter of the government's annual budget. The defence costs are about £67,000,000 more than the previous year.

Attlee summoned Defence Minister A. V. Alexander, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, for a 95-minute meeting at 10 Downing Street Tuesday night.

Alexander has just returned from conferences with defence chiefs in the United States.

Attlee met with Labor members of Parliament this morning and discussed the economic situation. Rank and file M.P.'s put in suggestions, but there was no announcement what they were.

Morrison, the party's top political strategist, and Sir Stafford attended the meeting.

The cabinet, searching for economies, will meet tomorrow and again Friday.

No Plan For Forced Buying British Government Bonds

LONDON (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps promised Britons tonight he will not force them to buy government savings bonds, nor freeze the ones they already have.

Government leaders "have set ourselves against the totalitarian way of forced loans to the state," the Chancellor of the Exchequer told a national savings rally.

His speech opened National Savings Week, a concentrated appeal to Britons not to spend their money at a time when inflation and rising prices threaten the country.

Sir Stafford said that since last April 1, Britons have cashed $42,000,000 ($130,200,000) more state savings than they have bought. That, he said, is exactly the opposite of what it ought to be.

Forced savings had been rumored as one way the government might take to mop up spending power and save the country from a threat of inflation that accompanied last month's devaluation of the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 in United States funds.

Congress Approves U.S. Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new minimum wage standard was approved by Congress Tuesday but the raises won't go into effect for 90 days or more.

Under the new minimum wage standard, a 35-cent-an-hour increase for some 1,500,000 workers in private industry is provided. The new minimum rate is 75 cents an hour. In making the change, the legislators left uncertain the number of workers exempt from its provisions.

The bill, to take effect 90 days after President Truman signs it, among other exempts employees of newspapers with a circulation of 4,000 or less. Also exempted are newspaper delivery boys from wage, hour and child labor provisions.

Pleasant Weather

TORONTO (CP)—Fine autumn weather was still reported in most of Ontario today. There was no sign of change for the next two days.

Truman Not Likely To Step In; Could Secure Injunction

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Government mediators kept trying today to pave the way for peace in the United States coal and steel strikes, but they did not appear very hopeful.

The mediators have been balked in every attempt to settle the strikes, the country's major labor disputes, which have made idle some 1,000,000 workers. Continuation of the strikes threatens seriously to curtail industrial production and make idle several hundred thousand other workers.

There were indications that if no headway is made soon the mediators will turn the disputes over to President Truman. However, there was no word that Truman would step in although he could use a court injunction or industry seizure to get the strikers back to work.

Cyrus H. Ching, chief government mediator, went to New York today to talk with officials of the U.S. Steel Corporation. Tuesday Ching and his chief assistants met with Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel for the C.I.O. and the striking United Steelworkers Union. But no progress was reported in the attempts to get the strikers back to work. Some 500,000 steel workers struck Oct. 1 for free pensions and insurance.

The negotiations between soft coal operators and officials of the United Mine Workers remained deadlocked. There was no progress at Tuesday's talks at White Sulphur Springs and Bluefield, W. Va., or any indication of any early settlement of the month-old strike of some 400,000 miners.

INCOME DWINDLED

The coal strike followed announcement that dwindling income had forced the union's $100,000,000-a-year welfare and pension fund to stop all but emergency benefits.

John L. Lewis, U.M.W. president, wants the 20-cent-a-ton royalty which supports the fund increased in the next contract, probably to 40 cents. He also wants the eight-hour work day shortened to seven without loss of pay.

U.S. Prosecution Of Japanese For War Crimes Ends

YOKOHAMA (CP)—American prosecution of Japanese for war crimes ended today.

A United States 8th Army Military Commission sentenced the last of many Japanese for atrocities against Allied civilians and military prisoners.

Asamu Satano, former Japanese army officer, got a five-year jail term on charges of beheading a captured American flier. The commission found that he had acted under orders.

A special international tribunal heard the Allies' case against the major war-crimes defendants. On Nov. 11, 1948, it convicted former Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 other former Japanese leaders. Tojo and six others were hanged. The rest went to prison.

Of more than 1,000 tried here by military commissions, 124 were sentenced to the gallows; 62 were given life terms, and more than 600 drew sentences ranging from a few months to 50 years. About 200 were acquitted.

Zero Hour At Hand For Users Of Steel

NEW YORK (AP)—The "zero hour is now at hand for many steel users" hit by strike-induced shortages, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, says today.

"Some have already shut down," the publication says. "Others will be idled this week. For the rest, closing may be closer than most people think. The blow falls quickly in a busy plant when a shortage shows up in a single part and stops the whole assembly line."

The trade weekly estimates that by the end of this week the steel strike will have cost 4,300,000 tons of steel production, and about $100,000,000 in lost wages in basic steel alone.

West May Call Reds' Bluff On Security Council Seat

LAKE SUCCESS (UP)—Western diplomats were ready today to call Russia's bluff on veiled threats of the Soviet to quit the United Nations if Yugoslavia is elected to the Security Council.

Observers here and in Washington belittled Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's charge that Yugoslavia's bid for a Security Council seat was "illegal." They regarded it as a Kremlin bluff made in the heat of an election campaign.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson was expected to deliver an outspoken reply to Vishinsky's blast at a Washington press conference today. The State Department, meanwhile, withheld comment, but it was reported authoritatively at the capital that the United States will not back down on its decision to support the Yugoslav candidacy.

"We have expected veiled Russian threats to quit the United Nations, over this issue," one informant said. "That is what Vishinsky's statement amounts to. We think he is bluffing, and we are ready to call it."

Council Election Tomorrow

The council election, in which Yugoslavia is opposing Soviet-backed Czechoslovakia, is scheduled for tomorrow when the General Assembly goes into plenary session at Flushing Meadows.

Vishinsky warned in an extraordinary news conference Tuesday that the Soviet Union would hold "unlawful and unjust" any election resulting in the selection of Marshal Tito's government over the Czech regime to succeed Ukraine in the Security Council.

Vishinsky's flat statement that Russia owns "a real atomic weapon, and it has been a real weapon since 1947" made little impression on delegates. They recalled that Vlachoslav M. Molotov, then Soviet Foreign Minister, indicated in 1947 that Russia had the atom bomb. President Truman's announcement last month that Russia had achieved an atomic explosion left the issue in some doubt, although Secretary of State Acheson said he was "assuming that Russia has an atomic weapon."

Six Fliers Escape

ATHENS (CP)—An R.A.F. Anson plane, piloted by F.O. J. D. Dürkle, Crow's Nest, B.C., crash-landed Tuesday night near Khalkis, 30 miles north of Athens. All six members of the crew escaped injury.

Second Radio Station Here Approved

CBC Grants Armstrong's Application

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—The Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation today approved applications to establish new radio stations in Victoria, B.C., and Theftford Mines, Que.

The board approved applications for new broadcasting stations from La Compagnie de Radio Diffusion de Theftford, for Theftford Mines, and from David M. Armstrong of New Westminster for a new Victoria station.

Two applications to establish new broadcasting stations in Saskatchewan were turned down by the board. The applications came from R. A. Hosie of Saskatoon and Saskatoon Broadcasters Ltd.

The board was of the opinion the Saskatoon area cannot support two stations. The board recommended that applications for a second station in the Saskatoon area should not be considered for a period of one year.

FURTHER HEARING

A request from the Canadian Marconi Company, for CFC, Montreal, asking for a long-term license for cultural FM broadcasting license was deferred by the board, to prove for further representations on the matter from existing Montreal stations.

The board deferred decision on the application from Newfoundland Enterprises for a new broadcasting station in St. John's, Nfld.

An application for a National Defence broadcasting station at Yellowknife, N.W.T., by the Department of National Defence was granted. The station would be of 150 watts. The board favored "such stations in isolated areas to give service to military personnel and civilians in the area."

Canadian Destroyer Haida Shares Exercise With U.S.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian Navy today assigned a destroyer to join United States fleet units in an amphibious assault exercise near Cape Porcupine, Labrador, this week-end. An announcement said the Tribal Class destroyer Haida, battle-scarred veteran of Atlantic convoy work in World War II, and five Canadian Army observers would join U.S. ships and planes in a mock battle with Oct. 22 listed as "D-day."

No Gasoline Combine Here, Ottawa Decides

OTTAWA (CP)—The government indicated this afternoon it does not plan to investigate the possibility that a price-fixing combine exists in the oil industry of Canada.

The government's attitude was outlined in an exchange of correspondence between Justice Minister Garson and Attorney General Corman of Saskatchewan. The exchange was tabled in the Commons.

Mr. Corman had asked for an investigation under the Combines Investigation Act as a result of the industry-wide increase announced recently in gasoline and fuel oil prices.

"We do not think from the information we have that the increase in prices to which you refer were the result of an agreement," Mr. Garson's letter said.

"It would appear to be the action of the largest company in the industry setting prices which its competitors later followed," Mr. Garson added, however, that if Mr. Corman has any further evidence to suggest existence of a combine the federal government would be glad to consider the matter again.

Oct. 31 Deadline For Strike Demands Of Lumber Inspector

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia lumber industry is again threatened by a strike.

Lumber inspectors have agreed to strike Oct. 31 if their wage, pension and union security demands are not met by the industry's operators.

Policy committee members of the lumber inspector's union (C.C.L.) set the strike deadline Tuesday following a round-table discussion on their plans.

An inspector's strike could cripple the entire industry. All lumber leaving the province must be inspected by the union's inspectors before being shipped.

The union is demanding a 35-cent-an-hour wage increase, plus a new pension plan and "union security."

Hulk Navigation Hazard Off Coast Of Washington

SEATTLE (AP)—White caps breaking over the half-sunken hulk of the burned lumber freighter Salina Cruz signalled a danger warning to shipping off the Washington coast today.

District Coast Guard headquarters said the cutter McLane had stood by the broken bow section overnight and was continuing to do so today.

Timbers from the ship's cargo, scattered over 20 or more square miles, was another navigation hazard. Most of the timber cargo of the Vancouver-to-Honolulu ship was composed of 20-foot long 12 by 12's.

The McLane will stand by until the hulk is eliminated as a shipping hazard—by a salvage operation, sinking or drifting ashore.

The ship's 17-man crew was rescued from two lifeboats Monday night. The ship caught fire Monday night and broke in two after capsizing.

Four Years To Issue Medals Held Speedy

OTTAWA (BUP)—Veterans who feel they have had to wait too long for their World War II campaign medals haven't a leg to stand on, the army said today.

At least, they haven't got the grounds for complaint that veterans of the Fenian Raids and the Red River Expedition in 1870 had. They had to wait 28 years for their medals.

The World War II medals are now being distributed, just four years after the fighting ended.

Little Hope Of U.S. Labor Peace

Bail Refused Four Youths On Rape Charge

Stipendiary Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Provincial police court this morning refused the application of defence counsel Gordon A. Cameron to fix bail for the four 19-year-old Victoria youths who have been jointly charged with the alleged rape of a woman last Sunday.

The accused in custody are: John Frederick Erickson, Clare Hamilton, Robert William Peterson, John James Norton. They are alleged to have criminally assaulted 33-year-old Edith Irbe, a displaced person from Latvia. Mr. Cameron sought to gain the release from custody of the youths on $1,000 bail each. This was refused by Mr. Thomas after hearing argument for and against by counsel and the prosecution.

The case has been remanded to next Monday when it is expected the preliminary hearing will open.

Hearing Adjourned For Mrs. A. Pitre

QUEBEC (CP)—Preliminary hearing of Mrs. Arthur Pitre, who faces a charge of attempted suicide arising from the probe into the Sept. 9 air disaster, today was adjourned until tomorrow.

The woman, a friend of J. Albert Guay who is charged with the murder of his wife when a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane was wrecked by a bomb explosion with loss of 23 lives, was arrested two weeks after the tragedy.

At Guay's preliminary hearing a fortnight ago, Mrs. Pitre, testified she had, at Guay's behest, placed a package aboard the aircraft just before its Quebec take-off for Bale Comesa.

The negotiations between soft coal operators and officials of the United Mine Workers remained deadlocked. There was no progress at Tuesday's talks at White Sulphur Springs and Bluefield, W. Va., or any indication of any early settlement of the month-old strike of some 400,000 miners.

The C.C.F. supported the government, while Social Credit members lined up with the Progressive Conservatives.

Mr. Macdonald ruled out of order a motion sponsored by T. L. Church (P.C.-Toronto-Broadview) on the grounds that it would involve expenditure of money.

Only a member of the government can sponsor legislation calling for the expenditure of money.

Mr. Church denied the motion would involve any expenditure and then appealed against Mr. Macdonald's ruling.

The motion read:

"That, in the opinion of this House, in view of the deplorable loss of life in Canada from accidents on highways and at level crossings, drawings, fire and other causes, the government should seek the co-operation of the provinces, municipalities and organizations throughout Canada in acquainting our people with the appalling toll and seek to find means of curtailing same."

The B.C. Police has often used aircraft in the past under charter in connection with their work but this is the first plane to be put to full-time use by the police department. Commissioner Shirras said that

Flood Deaths In Guatemala 4,000

GUATEMALA (CP)—Flood deaths in Guatemala have risen to about 4,000, Foreign Minister Ismael Gonzalez Arevalo said today. He added that property damage in the republic cannot be less than $50,000,000. "As each additional report arrives, the disaster assumes greater proportions," he said. The government stepped up its plans to relieve some 70,000 or more persons made homeless by the floods caused by two weeks of torrential rain. But there are no communications with many of the stricken, isolated villages in the interior.

AUCTION MUSINGS

ON MONDAY I went to an auction sale at one of the lesser-known old homes of this city. I was in search of a bird bath—for the more comfortable accommodation of the feathered guests who haunt our garden and find their ablution opportunities restricted to an occasional splash in its occasional puddles.

And I not only obtained an ornate bath which any bird should be glad to use, but came away enriched with an unusual human interest story, plus another chapter in a lifelong study of human nature.

In the first place, I was intrigued at the garden of the house in question. Tucked away between high walls and running the whole depth of two streets, it was an unexpected and amazingly remote little oasis almost in the heart of the business section.

REMOTE RETREAT

TIME AND TIME AGAIN I have passed along its rear fence without suspecting what lay on the other side. In this extensive but quiet little retreat were to be found trees and ornamental shrubbery, rockeries and pools, winding paths and brilliant flower-beds, with birdbaths and ornaments galore, as well as an amazing series of aviaries full of exotic feathered denizens, including a 90-year-old macaw!

Nor could one picture the interior of the old house itself, built in the "gingerbread" period, and full almost to overflowing with bric-a-brac and the ornate furnishings of the Victorian era of opulence. It was a setting redolent of the era of lavender and old lace, of crinolines and parasols, of leisurely, gracious living.

As I stood in what would, today, be considered its cluttered-up rooms, I felt again the sense of remoteness from everyday life that came to me in the garden. It was hard to believe that we were within a stone's throw of busy Douglas Street. Rather did I feel like a throw-back to the Bronte period.

CURIOUS AND CLIENTS

EVIDENTLY SOME, if not all, of my feelings were shared by thousands of others. For I learned that on the Sunday afternoon when the house and its contents were open to view, half Victoria turned out for a look.

And on the morning of the sale, hundreds poured into the house, obviously intrigued even more by the human interest element which sparked up this particular auction than by the prospect of those thrills which some people seem to get out of looking for bargains at the most ordinary sale.

From what I overheard on all sides, I judged the majority were there in the role of the curious rather than in that of the would-be client. And as I looked around and saw the obvious signs of the former owner's little eccentricities and foibles, I mused again at the strange tricks which Fate plays upon us humans.

LARES AND PENATES

THERE WAS something intensely touching in this slightly incongruous collection of the late owner's lares and penates, the treasures and intimate possessions amassed over the years and obviously cherished with an abiding affection.

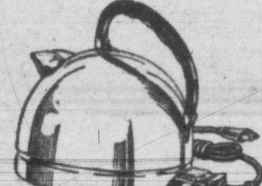

So recently they had been in the proud and private possession of one who had lived a rather retiring sort of life—if not the life of a recluse, latterly. And here they were, shorn of their sheltered seclusion, exposed to the public gaze, offered to the highest bidder.

And as I turned to go, I wondered if, in some quiet corner of that quiet garden, the ghost of the former owner were hovering, watching the proceedings and perhaps weeping a little at this materialistic epilogue to a poignant little human drama.

Devaluation Hits Exchange Teachers

OTTAWA (CP)—Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre) asked "Tuesday in the Commons" if Finance Minister Abbott was aware of the plight of exchange teachers as a result of devaluation and if anything could be done for them.

Mr. Abbott said the matter had not yet been brought to his attention. "I am sure it will be though as a result of today's question," said Mr. Abbott.

GOOD OBSERVATION

INSURED CONTRACT

Today's hand was sent to me by Robert H. Jamison of Miami, Fla. Mr. Jamison wrote that every player at some time runs across what he considers the most interesting hand in bridge, and his time came when he and his partner optimistically arrived at a six no trump contract on this hand. I will say this for Mr. Jamison—his careful observation of the drop of the cards made it possible for him to make the contract.

When the dummy went down, he thought that the only chance he had was to find the queen of spades in the East hand. If that worked, he could make three spade tricks, four hearts (if the hearts broke), four diamonds and the king of clubs.

He won the first trick with the king of clubs and then ran his four diamond tricks. On the fourth diamond West let go the three of hearts. East discarded a heart and a club. Mr. Jamison then proceeded to run his four heart tricks, discarding his deuce of clubs on the fourth heart. East carefully clung to his spades, trying to deceive declarer into thinking that he held the spade suit. West discarded first the eight of clubs and then the jack of clubs.

Declarer now decided that West was trying to protect the queen of spades, so at this point he led a club, which West was forced to win with the ace. Then he had to lead a spade into declarer's king-jack and small. It did not matter to Mr. Jamison who held the queen of spades now.

East argued that his partner should have discarded the nine of spades instead of the jack of clubs. However, Mr. Jamison claimed that unless West had made the nine of spades discard on the fourth diamond, he would have read what he was trying to do, and would have cashed the ace and king of spades, dropping the queen.

Want Sidewalks In School Area

A delegation of View Royal residents will interview Works Minister E. C. Carson Thursday afternoon, to ask that sidewalks be provided for the safety of children in the vicinity of the new Helmcken Avenue School, which will be opened next year.

The delegation, to be composed of H. B. Stevens, R. F. Owen, R. C. Henderson and a member of the Greater Victoria School Board, will ask particularly for a sidewalk along the Island Highway between the Six Mile House and Helmcken Avenue.

Bursaries of $75 each were presented to Glenn Calley of Esquimalt High and A. Gfchrist of Oak Bay High for their prize-winning essays. Receiving $50 scholarships for second prize essays were June Hedblom of North Saanich Junior and Senior High School and Les Galloway of Esquimalt High, and third prize scholarships of $25 each were presented to Don Murray of Duncan Junior High and Michael Nuttall of Victoria High.

The following students qualified for certificates of merit for essays: Joycelyn Rigby, Victoria High; Betty Bingham and Kay Parkinson, who wrote a joint essay, Central Junior High; Bob Lee, North Saanich High; Marie Cullen, Cobble Hill High, and Don Thompson, Central Junior High.

West May Call Reds' Bluff On Security Council Seat

TAKE SUCCESS (UP)—Western diplomats were ready today to call Russia's bluff on veiled threats of the Soviet to quit the United Nations if Yugoslavia is elected to the Security Council.

Observers here and in Washington belittled Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's charge that Yugoslavia's bid for a Security Council seat was "illegal." They regarded it as a Kremlin bluff made in the heat of an election campaign.

Council Election Tomorrow

The council election, in which Yugoslavia is opposing Soviet-backed Czechoslovakia, is scheduled for tomorrow when the General Assembly goes into plenary session at Flushing Meadows.

Vishinsky warned in an extraordinary news conference Tuesday that the Soviet Union would hold "unlawful and unjust" any election resulting in the selection of Marshal Tito's government over the Czech regime to succeed Ukraine in the Security Council.

Vishinsky's flat statement that Russia owns "a real atomic weapon and it has been a real weapon since 1947" made little impression on delegates. They recalled that Viacheslav M. Molotov, then Soviet Foreign Minister, indicated in 1947 that Russia had the atom bomb. President Truman's announcement last month that Russia had achieved an atomic explosion left the issue in some doubt, although Secretary of State Acheson said he was "assuming that Russia has an atomic weapon."

Atlantic Hurricane Veers, Now Parallel With Atlantic Coast

HALIFAX (UP)—A fierce tropical hurricane, which churned the Atlantic with 75-mile-per-hour winds, veered again today and howled along a course parallel to the coast.

The storm, which tossed giant liners in its wake, had been expected to strike the coast this afternoon. But late reports from the Dominion Public Weather Office said winds would not hit more than 25 miles an hour over the mainland.

By late morning, there had been no distress calls from ships. However, search and rescue organizations were on the alert.

The storm was running toward Newfoundland, and weather officials said its main force would be spent at sea.

The hurricane was the worst in a series of storms whipping the North Atlantic from North America to Britain.

10,000 DELAYED

The luxury liners Queen Elizabeth and Nieuw Amsterdam and seven U.S. army transports carrying more than 10,000 passengers were delayed from several hours to as much as a day by the severe weather.

A French freighter, unable to operate its engines in the stormy seas, hove to off the New Jersey coast awaiting a tow to port.

The Canadian Weather Bureau said the storm was moving toward the coast at a speed of nine miles with 75-mile-an-hour winds toward the centre and winds of 25 to 40 miles an hour on the periphery.

Marine and air search authorities are alerted to aid any shipwreck reported in distress.

U.S. weather officials warned of worsening weather along the entire North Atlantic coast. Storm warnings were up from Block Island to the Delaware Breakwater.

Gale winds and high seas battered the French freighter Caen which wallowed helplessly 180 miles east of Cape May, N.J., with its engines dead.

Certification of the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 918 (A.F.L.) engineers and maintenance men at the Memorial Arena was announced today by the Labor Relations Board.

Farm Caretaker Crushed To Death At Cobble Hill

COBBLE HILL—An inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Hirst Funeral Chapel, Duncan, to investigate the circumstances of the death of Percy Graham, 38-year-old caretaker of Heatherbank Farm, killed Tuesday at noon.

According to Constable Robert Ross of the B.C. Police, Graham was crushed between two logs while handling timber from the B.C. Power Commission right-of-way that passes through the farm, two miles north of here.

An overseas army veteran, Graham has been the farm caretaker for two years. He is survived by his widow and three children. He was married overseas.

According to the officer, caterpillar tractor operator Donald Young had placed logging tongs around a log to haul it out when another log rolled down the embankment and Graham was crushed between the two. Death was almost instantaneous.

Farm is owned by Paul Bell.

First Application Received Today For City Director Job

The first application for the position of director of administration for the city was received today by Frank Hunter, city clerk.

The application will be studied by City Council when it meets in committee of the whole next Monday to discuss the recommendation from the Stevenson and Kellogg business engineers that a director of administration be appointed.

The application came from a resident of West Vancouver who listed many references and qualifications in support of his statement that he had practiced successfully as a management engineer in the United States and Canada for the past 30 years.

He said he became a member of the Dominion Institute of Chartered Accountants in 1914 and had specialized in business management since 1917.

The West Vancouver man said he would be willing to take the job of director of administration on a three-year contract at an annual salary of $9,000 provided he was given an assistant to be trained as his successor.

ASSISTANT'S SALARY

He would want the assistant to be paid approximately $5,000 a year which would make the total cost of the new office $14,000 which was $1,000 less than the salary suggested by some members of the City Council as suitable for the position of administrator.

"I would guarantee," said the applicant, "to reorganize and consolidate the various offices and employees within the three years without any additional outside assistance."

It was taken that this meant he would not accept the Stevenson and Kellogg offer to implement its report in 18 months at a cost of between $30,000 and $40,000.

Repairs To Sea Wall At Half-Way Mark

Work on the first contract for repairs to the Dallas Road seawall damaged by erosion and storms last winter has reached the half-way mark, it was reported today by officials of the city engineering department.

The contracting company of G. H. Wheaton is doing the work which consists of construction of a concrete retaining wall with piling at the water side toe or base of the damaged wall, 365 feet long.

No completion date is set for the work, weather being the main factor in progress of the project. The contract was started in September and weather has not hampered the workers to any extent so far.

Second contract to be let probably next year will entail construction of a sloping concrete wall to encase the present wall completely. The wall, when completed, will be uniform with the sections of the sea barrier not damaged.

Red Sweep In South China

Chinese Communist troops are standing now at Hong-kong's northern border at Shumchun (1) and are holding positions facing British troops across a waterway which was spanned by a bridge till it was destroyed. Shumchun, 18 miles north of downtown Hongkong (2), was a major crossing point on both the highway and rail line leading to Hongkong from Communist-occupied Canton (3). Some 40,000 British troops are in the Hong-kong area. Nationalist troops evacuated Swatow (4) and Amoy (5), which were taken over by Communist troops. (NEA Photo)

Victoria Chinese Give Good Support

Victoria's Chinese citizens are giving good support to the current campaign of the Community Chest here.

Directing their own canvass, they have already turned in a goodly sum to the chest campaign office.

Typical of the willingness to assist this worthy cause is the Tuesday night gesture of Y. C. Lee, proprietor of the C.A.G. Gardens restaurant.

Tuesday night, Mr. Lee turned over his gross proceeds to the Community Chest, paying for the food and his help out of his own pocket. For the chest, this meant a tidy sum of $800.

Those in charge of the Chinese canvass have arranged for a tag day to assist the cause this coming Saturday.

Fiji Islanders Want Booklets On Victoria

The residents of Suva on the Fiji Islands want to know something about Victoria, B.C.

A letter from the Marist Brothers' High School at Suva to the City Council today asked for books on Victoria which would be placed in the school library.

"We would like some booklets giving information about your city as on these little tropical islands we know very little about it," the letter from the school stated.

Youth Who Illegally Wore Uniform Remanded

Eighteen-year-old Dennis Crawte, 1203 Hillside Avenue, today was remanded to tomorrow in city police court for sentence in a charge of unlawfully wearing a uniform of His Majesty's Royal Canadian Navy. Magistrate H. C. Hall said he wished a report from the probation officer before imposing sentence.

Motorist Fined, License Suspended

In city police court this morning, John Davies pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving on Mendies Street Oct. 15 and was fined $35 by Magistrate H. C. Hall. His license was also suspended.

The court was told Davies' car struck another, the driver of which suffered minor injuries. Damage done to the other car was reported at $250, to the Davies car about $40. Brakes on accused's car were reported to have been found defective.

Sheet Metal Company Plans Plant Expansion

Plans to expand its facilities were announced today by the Model Sheet Metal Company, which was issued a permit to construct a $7,000 building at 2014 Douglas Street, adjacent to present offices and plant.

The new building will contain two stores and a workshop to be connected with existing facilities.

Cyril Exton, 3253 Doncaster Drive, was remanded to next Monday for judgment on a careless driving charge when he appeared in city police court today. The car owned by him was in collision with a pole on Bay Street Oct. 11. Magistrate H. C. Hall fixed the adjournment in order to look up a technical legal point in the case.

Bid For Another Radio Station In Victoria Renewed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Applications for the right to start four new radio stations here were made to the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation at public sessions here.

Two of the applicants are in western Canada: R. M. Cantlon, who asked permission to set up a 250-watt station at Saskatoon; and David M. Armstrong, who asked for a license to operate a station of similar power in Victoria. Their applications were opposed by existing stations in their cities.

A protest was raised by M. V. Chestnut, manager of CJVI, Victoria, against the operation of a second station there. Mr. Chestnut said that if Victoria, with 24,000 listening families, has two

Princess Elizabeth Raps Britons For Many Divorces

LONDON (UP)—Princess Elizabeth Tuesday denounced divorce for causing "some of the darkest evils in our society today."

In an unusually outspoken address to the Mothers' Union here, she appealed for maintenance of the Christian doctrine that "the relationship of husband and wife is permanent."

"One of your first objectives is to uphold the sanctity of marriage," the princess told the mothers.

"There always will be unhappy marriages, especially when in times of war and housing shortages—it is so difficult to live normal married lives.

"Yet when we see the havoc which has been caused by the break-up of homes, we can have no doubt that divorce and separation are responsible for some of the darkest evils in our society today."

"I do not think you can perform any finer service than to help maintain the Christian doctrine that the relationship of husband and wife is a permanent one, not likely to be broken because of difficulties or quarrels."

stations, it will be the smallest community in Canada with that service.

Mr. Armstrong, promoter of the proposed second Victoria station, said his project had the support of Victoria City Council. He said Victoria is the only Canadian city with a population of more than 100,000 limited to one radio station, except for Windsor, Ont.

ECONOMIC ROAD TO CHINA

CANADIAN TRADE ENVOYS WHO have returned from China seem unanimous in the opinion that a resumption of traditional economic interchanges between this Dominion and China may be expected in the near future. Col. L. V. M. Cosgrave, commercial councillor in Shanghai until last spring, feels that trade with China, disrupted by the Communist revolution, is bound to resume natural patterns, and, subject to certain qualifications, the new forces will have to do business with the western world. Hon. T. C. Davis, Canadian Ambassador to China, supports that opinion, adding that "the Communists would welcome western trade and, but for the Nationalist air barrage, British and American ships would be sailing into coast ports now."

Such points of view furnish appropriate background against which to study Britain's Foreign Office approaches to Red China for the establishment of temporary working relations. Such an arrangement seems necessary to protect the big financial stake the United Kingdom has in the republic, though officialdom in England has given a clear indication to other western powers that she does not intend at this time to grant any kind of recognition to the Red regime.

The trading world appreciates very clearly the desirability of contact with the China emerging under Mao Tse-tung. The importance of that country to Canada and Britain in particular is not being discounted. But the peculiar political mix-up injects innumerable complexities. China became a member of the Big Five while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was in the saddle. His policies and practices are now in general disrepute; his hold on the vast territory and immense population has weakened to a point where it may soon be relinquished entirely. The western world has looked coldly on reports that Chiang hopes to regain control as an outcome of a World War III he envisages between the western democracies and Russia. His air forays against major Chinese centres now in Communist hands are taking on the nature of destructive ventures which injure not only those sections of his own people which have left him, but also interests of those nations with important business stakes in the territory under attack.

With the economic argument for resumed contact with China under Mao's administration so clearly defined, it appears to be only a matter of time before political relationships with that country will undergo a decisive change.

CONFERRING A DISTINCTION

MANY GENERATIONS OF VICTORIANS came directly or indirectly under the beneficial influence of Dr. S. J. Willis. Both as a teacher and as an important official in the Department of Education, from which he retired as deputy minister and superintendent, he had been an important agency in moulding a school system and establishing standards of which this province has every reason to be proud.

It is fitting that the new junior high school in the Topaz district should bear his name. That is the style of monument that can honor his memory best. Dr. S. J. Willis was a man of deep scholarship and that courtliness which sometimes accompanies it. His was a fine understanding of the ingredients which go into a liberal education, and his was a rich understanding of the intellectual needs of young Victoria. The future students of the school on which his name has been conferred have been accorded a distinction of no small proportions.

WHAT TO WEAR

A CONCLAVE OF CLOTHIERS IN Washington has been worrying about the problem of making junior's clothes fit him, or vice versa, and the retail men admit that the whole thing is "a little complicated." Everything would be simple if boys of the same "size" did not vary in their proportions. But nature has not been so considerate of the feelings of clothing men. Boys with size 10 shoulders may have size 12 hips. An age nine waist may go with an age 10 neck. Manufacturers have had to strike an average and hope for the best, apparently, but the problem for the shopping mother has not lessened. A current proposal from a representative of the U.S. Bureau of Standards would provide allowance for height and weight with each size, and no doubt more will be heard of this suggestion.

But nothing has been heard from the party most closely concerned—the boy himself—although he conceivably would have pertinent remarks to add to the discussion. Life was not always so formal. Time was when shorts and an open shirt were standard summer wear, with knee bloomers and a jersey for the school months. And younger members of large families were little worried about the idiosyncrasies of their individual figures—they wore this year what older brother had worn last, and gave the matter no further heed. But the "young businessmen" of today, hurrying to grade school in long trousers and suit coat, and even on occasion a creased felt hat, would feel embarrassed at the styles that were taken for granted by father. The trends change in time, however, and the day may come again when fashion will not force youngsters to emulate, years before they need don the restrictive envelope, the habits of their elders.

FOR BETTER CITIZENSHIP

THE 250,000 YOUNG CANADIANS WHO each year reach voting age, and the 400,000 persons from other lands who have come to make their homes in this Dominion since the war, are faced with new problems and new responsibilities of citizenship. It is to the benefit of such people, and the nation of which they are members, that steps be taken to inculcate in them the best ideals of national community living. Thus it is that the Canadian Citizenship Council seeks to promote a wide participation in public affairs, whether local or national, aids the development and understanding of democratic ideals and processes, and in general strives to stimulate the best type of citizenship among all Canadians.

A campaign to extend the Council's work is now under way. It is hoped to publicize the work of the organization so as to arouse the interest and support of the people of the Dominion to a greater extent than has been the case, and to raise the comparatively modest sum of $50,000 to finance future programs. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, national co-chairman of the Council, has said of its plans: "We have a tremendous and challenging task before us." It is a task in which we may be sure that Canadians will be happy to assist.

WHEN PUBLIC BACKS SCIENCE

DURING AN EARLIER ERA — WELL within the memory of our older citizens—tuberculosis was commonly discussed, if mentioned at all, in the muted tones reserved for shameful subjects. If an individual had "consumption," the information was frequently guarded, the matter hushed up, the whole issue surrounded by a cloak of secrecy woven from ignorance. There were, of course, the braver souls who spoke out loud and called for action against the disease, but they were the exceptions.

Since that day tuberculosis has become a subject of keen public interest, of frank debate, and the target of constructive and enlightened campaigns. And now the assertion is made by United States Surgeon-General Leonard A. Scheele that within 10 years it will no longer be a dangerous disease. In the opinion of that expert, even without future improvements in techniques, the illness will have been brought under control.

The story of man's successful fight against t.b. is one of the brighter developments of our age. In addition to virtually banishing a former killer, it points the way to conquest of venereal disease, and furnishes hope for the eventual victory over cancer and other ailments to which humans are now prey.

Apart from the very material benefits of eliminating the menace of what was once considered an almost invariably fatal disease, the achievement recorded in the tuberculosis field has one highly significant feature. It demonstrates the possibilities open to mankind when enlightenment is brought to the attack against an evil. Science has made a tremendous contribution to humanity through its leadership in this sphere. But that leadership could not have resulted in the accomplishments now recorded had it failed to enlist public support and co-operation. The example shines as a beacon to light the way to success in other fields.

COLLEGE FOR MOVIES?

THE POPULARITY OF SOME FIRST-rate foreign moving pictures, and many of the improved British films, has emphasized some of the deficiencies of the run of the mill Hollywood product which a few years ago virtually enjoyed immunity from outside competition in this country. The result has been a soul-searching in certain centres of the California moving picture capital, and several suggestions have been advanced for the betterment of the industry and the elevation of the standard of pictures now distributed from that centre.

Recently a proposal has come from Mr. William Wyler, one of Hollywood's top directors, that universities should take up the study of the motion picture. He sees such a step as a complement to courses in drama now included in many curricula. And Mr. Wyler hammered home his point by noting that "Colleges prepare students for working on the stage alone. But there is much more opportunity for work in other fields, such as radio and motion pictures."

The director seems to have a point there. But a question still remains. The moving picture caters to a mass audience which may, or may not, have high critical faculties. If the public is prepared to pay admission to see comedians throw pies at one another, or reduce life to terms of the wisecrack, is there an assured "gate" for so-called better class productions? Many film personalities have enjoyed the advantages of higher education. But box-office appeal is not necessarily enhanced by a sheepskin.

Hungary Today—IV

By MARK GAYN,
North American Newspaper Alliance
Correspondent, from Szécsény, Hungary

THE RICH HARVEST of grain and corn is gathered, the cherry and pear preserves put up; the new wine poured into barrels and stored in cool dugouts—this village is ready for the winter.

It will not be a restful season. Szécsény (which is not its right name) has been denounced in the Budapest press as a stronghold of the kulaks—or rich peasants—and the well-to-do here are waiting uneasily for the future. Thus far there have been no arrests, such as have been made throughout the country, but one never knows when Defosz, or the farmhands' union, will go into action.

I LIVE in a widow's large house, and sleep stifled between two enormous comforters, beneath the portrait of her late husband, a soldier with an awesome moustache. In the morning, I sit on the porch and watch the woman run her empire with a curse, a scream and a growl. The empire is large—two horses, four cows, a dozen pigs, geese, turkeys, chickens, four ornate-wheeled wagons, stables, barns, and beyond them a vineyard and an orchard. Her wheatland she rents out.

By all Hungarian standards, the woman is a kulak. She charges half the yield for the land she rents out. She boasts to me of withholding, illegally, some of the bacon she should have sold to the state. She has not reported to the state all her animals. Of the four farmhands she has, some she has hired outside of Defosz, at lower wages. The men are sad-eyed, ragged humans, who lunch on a chunk of bread and some grapes.

THE WOMAN snorts when she talks of the state. She likes none of its innovations—the farmhands' union, the co-operative farms slowly being set up all over the land, the price controls, the Communist meetings. She wages a one-woman, obstinate, underhanded war on all of them. It is not an ideological battle. It is just that the woman wants to hold what she has, and multiply it, by any means that will work.

But the woman admits she knows she is doomed. By official estimate, Hungary has some 50,000 "kulaks," and the state, slowly but relentlessly, is grinding them out. Their taxes are high. They are compelled to sell to the state a higher proportion of their produce than their neighbors. They are denied credit. They come last on the list for agricultural machinery or fertilizer.

LAST SPRING, many of them were induced to surrender "voluntarily" part of their land to their villages. Now this land is being turned over to the poor or landless peasants for Hungary's first real taste of "collective farms." In the current national bond drive, luckless is the kulak who fails to invest as much as the village Communists think he should.

The rash of arrests which spread over Hungary's countryside in late summer has now largely subsided. But the papers still carry daily reports of new arrests. Some peasants are picked up for anti-state propaganda, some for speaking against the bond drive, some for actively opposing the formation of collective farms.

THERE ARE A HUNDRED and one reasons for the arrests. They are less important than the fact that the only village segment actively hostile to the state is being made to toe the line. And it is equally significant that the main instrument of surveillance and punishment is Defosz, endowed by the police with extraordinary police powers. Where Defosz is active, the kulak is having a tough time.

Contrary to the impression abroad, the Communists in Hungary (as in most of eastern Europe) have moved slowly in the villages. Their one big move was the land law which confiscated the huge baronial and church estates and divided them up among the poor peasants. But the Communists soon discovered that a poor farmer who had suddenly gotten a ten-acre chunk of land wanted to hold on to it.

RECENTLY I VISITED one corner of the former Prince Esterhazy estate, which once covered a good part of northwestern Hungary. The land has now been divided up among his former hands. The men and their wives squatted outside their dingy barracks, built by the prince, and talked to me readily and bitterly of their past, in which they worked 12-16 hours a day, married and sent their children to school only at the sufferance of the estate managers, and were tossed out and blacklisted if they murmured a protest.

But much as they hated their past, they were against the rosette future painted for them by the Communist chief of the nearby tractor station. "No," they said, "we're against this share-land, share-work business. There are too many lazy people who won't do their share of work, but will want their share of the grain." Their dream was not of a collective farm; they dreamed of a three-room house with a fruit orchard around.

IT IS THIS INNATE conservatism which has deterred the Communist policy makers in Budapest from initiating any drastic land reforms. Politically, the program has been limited to keeping the heat on the rich peasant: setting up model "collective farms," whose state-aided well-being might induce the hesitant to join in; and a tremendous propaganda campaign.

Even the most ardent Communists will admit today that it will be a long time before the Hungarian village goes socialist, and the kulak is extinct.

Is That A Promise?

As Our Readers See It

SALARIES AND PENSIONS

In your editorial of yesterday titled "The Price Must Be Paid," you state that Mr. Coldwell charged the government with having broken faith by not abolishing the means test. And you say that giving a pension of $50 to 70 years of age is doing a good job.

I wonder how they would like to try living on $50 a month. The Prime Minister thinks it necessary to appoint two more high court judges at $20,000 a year and has raised the pay of the others to that figure.

AN OLD AGE PENSIONER.

PENSIONS

Your editorial of Oct. 15 entitled "The Price Must Be Paid," takes issue with statements allegedly made by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, charging that the Liberal government had "broken faith" with the electors regarding its failure to abolish the means test for old age pensioners.

Your claim is that the Liberal Party made no such promise during the June federal election, and you, in effect, challenge the C.C.F. spokesman to prove otherwise. To find some of the proof you desire, I would draw your attention to a dispatch from Vancouver reporting a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent at a Liberal rally held in that city. The dispatch referred to, appeared in the Times of April 14 last, in which is reported the following statement from the Prime Minister:

"We are certainly not yet satisfied with our old age pensions legislation. What has been our aim is a contributory system, so that our old people will receive their pensions as a matter of right without a means test. But we cannot have a real contributory system without an agreement with all the provincial governments to have the constitution amended, as was done in the case of unemployment insurance—and some of them are pretty hard to get to agree."

It is possible that on the strength of such a statement many of the voters supported the candidates of the present government. It seems, however, that the whole matter is conditional on the agreement by all provinces to participate in the scheme. This, in effect, means that an indifferent attitude on the part of one or two provinces assuming the role of Balkan States can prevent the scheme from being operative in the other provinces—a truly impossible and very illogical situation, to describe it mildly.

On the basis of better reasoning, should the more favorable provinces agree to participate, there is no logical reason why a compact should not be entered into by such provinces and the federal government.

If, on the other hand, the real impediment is the matter of finance, then it is fair to suggest that the elected representatives should have been honest enough so to inform the electors at the time they were seeking their votes.

ESQUIMALT AND THE CHEST

This in reference to a letter in the Times from Mrs. P. B. Bevan. I want to remove a wrong impression that may be in the minds of the residents of Esquimalt regarding remarks made by me at the last council meeting regarding donations to the Community Chest.

I would point out that I made no reference at any time to donations received in Esquimalt. No doubt the reporters present at the time took it for granted that I was collecting in Esquimalt. But, as a matter of fact, my district was outside Esquimalt.

I trust that this explanation will dispel any resentment against my remarks, as I know from reports that the residents in this municipality have done and are doing their share as far as possible to assist this worthy cause.

I must also state that the residents in the district allotted to me donated where possible and some very generously.

F. HIGGINS,

THEATRE AND ARENA

In the Saturday edition of the Times I noticed two advertisements of forthcoming attractions—one at the Royal Theatre and the other at our Arena. Each is asking the same amounts for admission. The theatre has approximately 1,400 seats, while the Arena has a 6,000-seating capacity for such an entertainment.

GENERAL INDEX

The general index of employment, released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, and based on the year 1926 as 100, was 198.3, as compared with 194.5 at June 1, 1949, and 198.0 at July 1, 1948, previously the maximum in the record for the beginning of July. During the war, the highest figure for that date was 183.7 in 1943. Manufacturing, construction and other industries show heightened activity at the beginning of July.

There was an increase of 3.2 per cent in the advance general index number of payrolls at July 1, as compared with June 1. This general pay and employment scene is brightened considerably by the release of national figures on strikes and lockouts for the years 1946 through 1948.

LOST DAYS
In 1946, a pretty grim year for industrial strife by any standards, 139,474 workers were involved in strikes across the country and the staggering total of 4,516,393 man-working days were lost. In 1947, there were 104,120 strikers but the lost days were nearly halved when compared with 1946. Last year, only 42,820 workers indulged in this expensive game and only 885,793 man-working days were chalked up as lost.

Is it not reasonable to assume that entertainment at our auditorium should be much cheaper than at the Royal?

The irony of it all is—the citizens of Victoria have constructed a building in which a minority of the people are privileged to witness hockey and to skate.

The majority, for various reasons, are not interested in these two sports; but, at some time or other will be anxious to see some other form of entertainment, only to be stymied by the high cost.

When will the long-suffering Victoria taxpayer get a break?

1792 AND 1949

During the French Revolution, after the Bastille was down and a democratic constitution set up, rioters quelled, etc., chiefly by Mirabeau's almost incredible labors, this state of affairs in no way suited a powerful political element opposed to democracy.

So they set to work to sabotage it. One of their innumerable stunts, so it was charged, was to cause a breakdown in public transportation.

Thus, even their bumpy old diligences became "political." Likewise, inconveniences inflicted on the public by our local transportation monopoly, apparently purposeless (but fares not involved) become meaningful when interpreted as long-term political expediency.

Discontent, chaos and confusion must be engendered before democracy can be supplanted.

Whereby the "viewing with alarm" by the Victoria Builders' Exchange of City Council's tentative plans to amalgamate engineering and inspectors' depts., their assertion that it would create confusion, misunderstanding and delay—becomes politically interesting.

Also politically interesting is the raising of lawyers and milkmen's license fees. The ingenious aggravation of these important people being evidently not attributable to lack of cash on the part of the City Council, which is about to expend 70 or 80 thousand dollars (over a period of seven or eight years) on a perfectly needless exchange of city gifts.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

WHEN Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was asked by a small New York schoolgirl what his country's worst problem is, he replied without hesitation: "Poverty. We must have food for our people."

There in eight plain words Nehru summed up the paramount task he faces as leader of India's 300,000,000. No evasion; no effort to gloss over a situation which men of smaller calibre might have found embarrassing on their first visit to a foreign land. Just a blunt admission of a tragic fact.

India's greatest burden is stark hunger, due to poverty. The same can be said of her sister state of Pakistan with its population of 100,000,000. It is no exaggeration to say that the majority of the people in the vast Indian subcontinent always are hungry. And, of course, the plague of hunger haunts China and other Oriental lands. The western world doesn't know the half of the trials of the East.

WORN OUT

About 70 per cent of the 400,000,000 people in India and Pakistan are dependent on agriculture, and the average farming family doesn't get enough to eat. The farmers struggle with antiquated methods on land which has been worn out through countless generations of tillage. You find the farmers living in some 700,000 little villages of the Indian peninsula.

The homes are little mud huts, which are fearfully dirty and have no sanitation. Probably there isn't even a single "backhouse" of that sturdy type known to the western world. Cowering, gathered by the women with their hands, is plastered on the outside walls of the huts to dry for fuel.

Amidst all this awful squalor, death and birth do their rounds—and the one who dies is lucky. Everywhere you see naked and often diseased babies being cared for by small brothers and sisters while the parents work. I saw one baby with a horrible rupture being toted about by its little sister. Babies with festering eyes covered with flies were common.

Doctors? They are mostly sadhus, or spirit doctors, who work their "cures" through incantations and other practices.

POINT OF NO RETURN

Montreal Star
When Canadian Yugoslavia staged their back-to-Yugoslavia movement two years ago we felt sorry for them. They had been sold a pup. Now they are disillusioned. Not much of what the Canadian Council of South Slavs told them has turned out to be true. Some are reported to be in jail, others as free as one can be in a Communist country but not free to leave Yugoslavia as they were free to leave Canada.

We still feel sorry for them. The older people among them, those born in Yugoslavia, may have gone home nostalgically. The younger group were led up an ideological garden path.

It is to be hoped they can get back. Their experience will have cured them of Communism and their experience would enlighten others who might be led to think that everything is sweetness and light under Communist regimes.

PREPARING FOR LIFE

New York Times
The headline's message had a familiar ring. "High Schools Urged to Teach 'Life Adjustment'." It seems that Galen Jones, director, division of secondary education, of the United States Office of Education, told a group of Wisconsin school authorities the other day that American high schools are failing to "prepare their pupils for life."

Our news item reporting Mr. Jones' remarks did not state that the Wisconsin school authorities to whom he spoke offered a reply to his assertion that they were failing to "prepare their pupils for life." We would like to think, however, that they suggested to Mr. Jones quietly but firmly that while they were glad to assist in the education of young people for family life, in the teaching of citizenship, and so on, they believed that an excellent place to learn about these subjects is the home and that they would be grateful if some of the blame for any alleged failure to fit their students to life's complex patterns were to be placed squarely where it belonged; in the hands of adults who fob off their responsibilities upon teachers—to whom is given straw with which to make bricks.

A Better Industrial Picture

From Industry

FURTHER increases in employment and payrolls in leading establishments in the major industrial groups throughout the country at the beginning of July, creating new records for the time of the year plus a trend towards decline in industrial strife, present a cheerful picture as autumn swings into high gear.

GENERAL INDEX
The general index of employment, released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, and based on the year 1926 as 100, was 198.3, as compared with 194.5 at June 1, 1949, and 198.0 at July 1, 1948, previously the maximum in the record for the beginning of July. LOST DAYS
In 1946, a pretty grim year for industrial strife by any standards, 139,474 workers were involved in strikes across the country and the staggering total of 4,516,393 man-working days were lost. Last year, only 42,820 workers indulged in this expensive game and only 885,793 man-working days were chalked up as lost.

Could it be that the worker has come to realize that it takes many a long year, even with his increased strike-won wages, to catch up for the monetary losses suffered when he was out on strike?

Or could it be that intelligent management, recognizing the deadening influence mass production methods have on the human mind and soul, has undertaken to make workers realize that they really belong to the company and that they are not merely perpetual buck privateers on the huge parade square of the industrial army?

EITHER ANSWER

Whatever the answer, with wages and employment high and strikes generally down, the current industrial picture is better than it has been in years.

Enlist Informers To Aid Abolition Of Czech Middle Class

PRAGUE (Reuter)—Confirmation that Czechoslovakia is abolishing its middle class and establishing a Socialist society came Tuesday in the disclosure that networks of "confidants" are being organized in Prague to report on their neighbors.

The announcement, in the national trades union newspaper Prace, said the intention of these groups, organized by local union committees, is to "transform Prague into a Socialist town of working people."

The new organization, paralleled by the Communist party's own system to check "reliability," will inform about people with too large houses or apartments or who seem hostile to the regime.

A "purge" of the famous national physical culture organization, Sokol, also was foreshadowed. A meeting of Sokol officials said it was necessary to "remove inefficient and reactionary officers, to devote all activity to the masses and to be sure not to spoil prominent individuals who fail to understand the times."

Three leading Czech ice hockey players were reported to have been dropped from the national team last week-end because of "unreliability."

Meanwhile 500 Czech legal experts are preparing new criminal codes, including a reform of military law to "strengthen discipline and see that the army is a shield for the working people as they build socialism."

I.W.A., Operators Sign New Agreement

VANCOUVER (CP)—A master agreement between coastal lumber operators and the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.) was signed Tuesday.

Contentious board and lodging clauses held up signing of the contract, which had been negotiated in principle earlier.

The contract covers about 30,000 loggers and 150 operations on the B.C. coast and Vancouver Island.

Cost of room and board has been pegged at $2.25 a day or continuance of lesser rates where they prevail.

At the same time, J. Stewart Alsburg, district union president, announced that early settlement of contract negotiations with interior operators is expected shortly.

Settlement, affecting about 5,000 men is expected on the same basis as the coastal agreement.

Two Coalitionists Contest By-Election

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Unable to decide between two nominees for the coalition candidacy in Brandon constituency, delegates from the Progressive Conservative and Liberal parties meeting in joint convention Tuesday night decided to run both men as candidates in support of coalition. Brandon is a one-seat constituency.

The candidates are J. C. Donaldson for the Progressive Conservative Party and G. R. Rowe for the Liberal Party.

Both parties had 42 voting delegates at the meeting and on four ballots the delegates remained solidly behind their own party's nominee.

After the fourth tied ballot the two groups retired to hold separate meetings. They agreed on their return that each party should run its own candidate in support of coalition.

Appoint B.C. Man To Washington Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Col. A. E. Winch of Ottawa has been appointed assistant military attaché at the Canadian Embassy in Washington, army headquarters announced Tuesday.

Col. Winch, a 41-year-old native of Hazelton, B.C., was director of signals at army headquarters from 1946 to 1949 and during the war was chief signals officer of the Canadian forces in the Netherlands. In Washington he will also serve as chief of staff to the commander of the Canadian army staff in Washington.

He succeeds Col. L. G. Clarke, who has been appointed director of artillery at army headquarters.

PARKSVILLE—Alexander Hills of Hilliers was fined $15, plus $3 costs by Magistrate R. C. Weid in Parksville police court Tuesday. Hills was charged with careless driving following an accident between a car he was driving and a truck belonging to Reginald Fouty, Parksville.

Danish Nun To Get Carnegie Gold Medal

COPENHAGEN (AP)—For the first time in its history, the Carnegie Foundation will award a special gold medal instead of its usual rewards for heroism.

The gold medal has been made to honor a Danish nun, who is not permitted to accept gifts of money.

In March, 1945, the nun, 45-year-old Sister Edith, saved the lives of 75 children trapped under the burning and flooded ruins of a Roman Catholic school in Copenhagen.

The school was bombed by mistake by the R.A.F. during an otherwise successful attack on the "Shell House," Gestapo headquarters in Denmark. Eleven nuns and 97 children were killed.

The mishap took place when the leading mosquito bomber in the second attack wave was hit by anti-aircraft fire and crashed on the roof of the school. The following planes mistook the scene of the disaster for the target.

Debate On B.N.A. Act Gives House Another Day Of Talk

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament plodded through its second successive day of constitutional controversy Tuesday.

Old arguments, some with new twists, were the order as members attacked or defended the government's proposed method of amending the constitution on federal matters.

The Progressive Conservative and Social Credit positions remained the same. They are opposed to the government resolution asking the United Kingdom Parliament to give Canada the power to amend the constitution on affairs wholly within federal jurisdiction.

The Liberals continued to defend the action as it stands. The C.C.F. accepted the principle with reservations. Result was an amendment to the resolution, proposed by Stanley Knowles (C.C.F. Winnipeg North Centre) asking assurance for Canadians that a session of Parliament would be held at least once a year and that an election would be held every five years.

John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre, Sask.), came up with a new suggestion. The lawyer from Prince Albert urged that the whole question be discussed by a committee of the whole House.

FORMAL DISCUSSION

As the resolution stands at present, it offers opportunity only for formal debate. If the government should agree to open the way for committee consideration, members could ask questions on all phases of the measure. There was, however, no indication the government would agree.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the way the government is going about amending the constitution (British North America Act) is one that will set a precedent for any future amendments. It was an extremely important step and should be discussed fully and in detail before any action was taken.

45 DIVORCE BILLS

Forty-five Quebec divorce bills were adopted on second reading—approval in principle—although their mass passage met opposition in all parts of the Commons.

At conclusion of debate on the touchy topic—one that cuts across party lines—a number of members rose to ask for a formal vote. They discovered the bills had already been passed. There was no objection to the Speaker's ruling.

At the House opening, Prime Minister St. Laurent said the government would expedite its public works program in Newfoundland in the hope of overcoming some of the province's rising unemployment.

Orders Retrial On Manslaughter Case As Jury Disagrees

NANAIMO (CP)—A jury failed to agree Tuesday in the manslaughter trial of John Neiser of Chase River, B.C., and Chief Justice Wendell Farris ordered a re-hearing.

The charge arose from the July 31 death of Peter Myshak, who died from injuries received when Neiser's small truck in which Myshak was riding hit a parked forestry department truck.

Defence witnesses testified Neiser drank only one glass of beer the night of the accident, before leaving for a dance at Harewood, near here.

Neiser testified that on returning early in the morning, he had not seen the truck until he was within seven feet of it. He said there were no lights on the heavy forestry vehicle.

George L. Goldman, driver of the parked truck, said his lights were dimmed.

Goldman admitted in preliminary hearing testimony that he had not visited a beer parlor the night of the accident was wrong. He said he, his helper, and a lady friend had visited one for four beers.

Chief Justice Farris said a long case coming up in Vancouver next week may prevent his hearing the retrial.

Air Cadet League Gets Nfld. Branch

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Canadian Air Cadet branch has been established in Newfoundland, which along with eight new Canadian branches, brings the total number of squadrons in Canada to 159, it was announced Tuesday at an executive meeting of the Air Cadet League of Canada.

Members reported there were 155 cadets who took flying courses during the last year and 94 per cent passed, making a new high.

In the Senate, the bill to abolish appeals to the Privy Council was introduced by Senator A. K. Hugesen (Lib.-Quebec).

Senator Hugesen attacked the principle of taking cases to a court thousands of miles away and composed of members many of whom had never been anywhere near Canada.

The bill, which will make the Supreme Court of Canada the final court of appeal for this country, already has passed the Commons.

Prairie Farmers Yearn For Culture, Arts Probe Told

SASKATOON (CP)—The commission appointed by Parliament to investigate the state of culture in Canada left here Tuesday night with what may have been a surprising piece of information about the Saskatchewan prairies.

At the closing session of their two-day hearings in this city, the commission was told the prairie farmer and ruralite have a yen for the better things of life.

The Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada presented a brief noting the great need and sincere desire of rural residents for access to and a greater first-hand knowledge of arts and culture.

The brief asked steps to bring the "arts and fine things of life" to the farming section of the people. At the same time it commended the CBC for its efforts in that behalf.

Prof. E. M. Jones, head of the drama department of the University of Saskatchewan, said his summer theatre company, first organized two years ago, had met with gratifying receptions in small centres.

"The rural districts keep us on our toes artistically," he said.

"Our productions are enormously popular. Some persons at first were kept away by the frightening names of Moliere and Shakespeare, but I have no hesitation in saying the rural population of Saskatchewan is a good arbiter of taste in the theatre."

Prof. Jones appeared to discuss the work of his company, Western Stage Society, which will complete one more summer tour and then try to operate on a year-round basis.

Asked by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, commission chairman, if there were any reason the movement should not spread, he said: "I see no reason why it should not."

The commission will sit in Edmonton Oct. 19-21, Vancouver Oct. 24-26, Victoria Oct. 28-29, and return through Calgary Nov. 1-2 and Regina Nov. 3-4.

View Royal Drive For $750 To Build Volunteer Fire Hall

Collection of $750 will be undertaken among View Royal residents immediately to finance materials for a firehall which volunteer firemen of the district have offered to build.

The canvass for funds will be in charge of C. Lewis, who has set his sights on Nov. 10 as deadline for the objective to be reached.

It is planned to build the hall on property of the View Royal Community Association at the Island Highway and Beaumont Road.

Fire hydrants are being installed by the Greater Victoria Water Board throughout the district for use of the volunteer fire brigade.

Court Releases Youths; Charge To Be Revived

WINNIPEG (CP)—Magistrate M. H. Garton Tuesday discharged five youths in custody since Sept. 25 on rape charges because the complainant will not be able to appear in court for at least three months and the Criminal Code does not allow bail on such a charge.

Crown Prosecutor O. M. M. Kay said the same charge will be laid against the five youth when the Crown is able to produce the complainant. Mr. Kay said the complainant, a middle-aged woman, is in poor mental and physical condition and doctors said she would be unable to appear in court within three months.

Pro Rec Show At Langford Saturday

The Langford Community Association will sponsor a display by Victoria Pro-Recs in the Community Hall, Saturday at 7:30.

The troupe will during the two hours' program present a varied show, which will include acrobatic routines, folk and tar dancing, adagio, tumbling, spring board tumbling, hand-to-hand balancing, high box vaulting, and pyramids. Ed Kelter, district chief instructor, will be in charge of the troupe which include such well-known Victoria performers as Jack Moffat, Bill O'Brien, John Crossley, Bob Jackson, John Clarkson, Jack O'Neill, Bruce Baird, Betty Mae King and Myrna Barr.

Esquimalt Branch 172 of the Canadian Legion will hold its general meeting tonight in the hall at 622 Admirals Road. Friday evening a dance will be held and on Saturday a moving picture show will be given at 2 and 8.

Complete Auction Arrangements Friday

Friday will be moving-day for members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club. In preparation for the club's annual auction-sale at the Armories on Saturday, club members will form a large work party on Friday evening to arrange the articles which are being auctioned.

Kiwanis announced that there will be numerous articles to go on the block, and the first call will come at 9 Saturday morning.

Club members were urged to support the affair to the fullest extent by past president and district lieutenant-governor Denis Hagar. All proceeds will go toward club objectives and charities.

Auctioneers will be Art Roberts, A. J. Maynard and W. H. Lund.

Victorians Visit Birthplace Of Shakespeare

Mrs. Marguerite Crossley, right, with her daughter, Miss Marie-Louise Crossley, and Mr. Roland Stampbach, Switzerland, pictured in the garden of William Shakespeare's home at Stratford-on-Avon during a recent visit in England. Mrs. Crossley went to Europe by boat in early summer and her daughter crossed by plane a month later. They traveled extensively in France, where they visited Mrs. Crossley's relatives, and in other countries of western Europe as well as England, before returning to Canada earlier this month and to their Victoria home, 2450 Quadra Street, last week-end.—(British Tourist and Holidays Board picture)

Old Time Saanich Residents Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

Arrangements of bright autumn leaves and golden chrysanthemums decorated Royal Oak Hall yesterday evening, where more than 230 residents of the Saanich Peninsula and many out-of-town visitors gathered with relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barker, Old West Saanich Road, to honor them on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Assisting the happy couple in receiving guests were Mr. Barker's sister, Mrs. M. Hersey, and his twin brother, David, the bridesmaid and best man of 50 years ago. Also present were the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Barker: Gilbert Barker, Wilfred Barker, Mrs. R. E. Lohr (Violet), and Mrs. R. Manzer (Irene), with their wives and husbands, 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

OLD-TIME DANCING

Old-time dancing was enjoyed during the evening to the music of an orchestra led by Mrs. Barker's brother, T. Scafe. Later, refreshments were served, with the bride party seated at a table covered with a white cloth and decorated with bands of golden crepe paper, and centred with a brass bowl of golden chrysanthemums, flanked by tall gold candles in brass holders.

Many gifts were received, including a sum of money from assembled guests for a "second honeymoon" and a trillight lamp from fellow stallholders at the Public Market.

A four-tier wedding cake, weighing 50 pounds, was cut by the bride and groom. Mrs. Barker, the former Miss Tena Scafe, was born in the Highland district, near Victoria, and attended school in the little red schoolhouse still standing on Millstream Road.

Mr. Barker came to Victoria with his parents from the United States when he was nine years old. His parents started the first white laundry in the city at the corner of Douglas and Discovery Streets, where they had their home.

When he is reminiscing, he will tell you that he and his twin brother David delivered laundry in a cart drawn by a pet goat, to the popular Angel Hotel and to Dr. Driand Hotel, Victoria's top-ranking hotel of the day.

The boys attended the old Central School at the head of Yates Street until the family moved to Strawberry Vale to take up farming.

SAANICH FARM

Following their marriage in October, 1899, Mr. and Mrs. Barker lived in Strawberry Vale before moving to a 35-acre farm on Old West Saanich Road, where they have made their home ever since.

Clearing was done by Mr. Barker, all by hand, Mrs. Barker helped too.

"I remember grubbing 27 small stumps in one afternoon," she tells you, "while Mr. Barker pulled the bigger stumps with a team of horses."

"Quite a different business to present-day clearing with a bulldozer."

They grew all their own vegetables and Mrs. Barker did all the cooking for her family. "And they were healthy eaters, too," she says with a twinkle in her eyes.

She also found time to join the first Royal Oak Women's Institute and to rejoin again when the institute was reformed in later years.

"Went to those first meetings in a horse and buggy," she reminisces, "or a horse and cutter when it was snowing. And always had one or two of the children with me."

Despite hard work of pioneer days, and the activities of later years which included for the couple a stall in the Public Market for many years, Mr. and Mrs. Barker have enjoyed continual good health.

"First time I was even in hospital," Mr. Barker says, "was just recently, when a bull I had owned for years up and gored me."

"We've worked hard all our lives," he concludes, "Guess that has helped to keep us young."

Officers Installed In Candlelight Service

Installation officer Margaret Bean, left, officiates, as past president Mrs. Woodford, centre, gives the gavel, symbol of her office, to Mrs. Pat Green, new president of Victoria Credit Women's Breakfast Club.

Candles representing faith, vision and courage, the motto of Victoria Credit Women's Breakfast Club, were lighted by past president Mrs. Betty Woodford, president Mrs. Pat Green and vice-president Miss Loraine Arnot, as club members, with lighted candles held before them, repeated their pledge at an impressive installation ceremony following their banquet Tuesday evening in Strathcona Hotel.

Miss Margaret Bean, first vice-president of District No. 10 of Credit Women's Breakfast Clubs of North America, came from Vancouver to conduct the installation rites, and expressed her pleasure in attending the affair, and wished the new executive every success.

As each new executive officer stood for installation, her duties and responsibilities were clearly outlined by the district vice-president, and her candle lighted by the retiring officer.

Other new executive members include Miss Ivy Burwood, treasurer; Miss Bess McGillivray, secretary; Mrs. Woodford, bulletin; Misses Joan Wren, Vidie Owen.

Among Indians—Members and friends of Servimus Group, Metropolitan Women's Auxiliary, met at the home of Mrs. J. O. Welch, Dalhousie Street, with Mrs. J. G. Jones in the chair. Following business, Mrs. H. O. Lamont led the devotional period, and later told members of her work among the Indians. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served with Mesdames G. C. Walkey, R. A. Heater, E. B. Provod and E. W. White acting as co-hostesses. Mrs. Archie Willis, Fairfield Road, offered her home for the next meeting, Nov. 18.

den and Mrs. Evelyn Tether, directors.

The Victoria club was organized in 1934 and includes in its current membership of 23, several charter members. Meetings are held monthly at 7 a.m., when members enjoy a breakfast, and are later addressed by leading business men and women.

Members take active parts in district conventions, and their own District No. 10 includes British Columbia, Alberta, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho, thus providing opportunity for members to travel and meet their sister organizations to the south.

Following dinner, served at a U-shaped table, centred with crystal bowls of cream, pale yellow and mauve chrysanthemums, a presentation of a past president's pin—a tiny golden gavel—was made to Mrs. Woodford.

Among guests were Mrs. Rita Baker, Mrs. W. Holman and Miss Millie Hunter.

Miss Hunter, here on vacation from San Francisco, is a former member, having served as treasurer, before leaving to make her home in the south. She was winner of the door prize.

Special Tea Realizes $100

More than $100 was realized at a tea, held last week-end, by members of the Canadian Antivivisection Society.

Mrs. R. Canova was general convener, assisted by Mrs. H. Bristol, Mrs. E. Boyd, Mrs. R. Ferguson, Mrs. H. Landman, Mrs. W. Roseboom, Mrs. J. Stewart, Mrs. Talfe, Madame Vivenot, Mrs. M. Watkins, Mrs. J. Watson, Miss Beecroft, Miss Colquhoun, Miss F. Thirkell, Miss H. B. Walsh, Miss Marie Walsh and Miss N. Wyles.

During the afternoon, Miss Nona Webster, new secretary of the society, was introduced to assembled guests.

Today's Recipe

CARAMEL RICE CAKE

It's a rice dessert that is served cold, may be made in the morning. When this cake comes out of the loaf pan it holds its shape, is covered with a rich caramel topping. The light creamy texture of caramel rice cake blends well with whipped cream garnish but this cream is recommended for the children's portions.

Ingredients—1½ cups rice, raw, 4 cups milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 4 egg yolks, 4 teaspoons melted butter, ½ cup sugar.

For Sauce—½ cup sugar. Method—Cook rice 2 or 3 minutes in boiling water and drain. Mix rice with milk and vanilla extract, place in medium-sized covered baking dish and bake 45 minutes to 1 hour at 350 degrees F. without stirring or until rice is almost dry. Beat egg yolks in bowl until frothy, then stir in butter and sugar. Mix thoroughly with rice, breaking up rice grains as much as possible.

Sauce—Melt ½ cup sugar in a 9½x5½x2½ loaf cake pan stirring constantly over low heat until sugar is dissolved and turns a golden caramel color. Tilt the pan frequently to coat bottom and sides thoroughly with sauce. Then spoon rice into pan. Set pan in a larger pan half filled with hot water and bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes or until cake is firm and lightly browned. Cool rice cake in pan, then unmold on serving dish. Serve with light cream or make up some more caramel sauce. This will serve six persons.

Tannic acid, a necessary ingredient in the tanning of kid, is also a modern pharmaceutical. In centuries past, children and adults stopped by tanneries to drink a portion of the health-giving liquid.

Miss E. Warburton Heads Children's Ward Auxiliary

In annual meeting held Monday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, members of the Children's Ward Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital named Miss E. Warburton president for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Mrs. V. Edward, vice-president; Miss M. Gunning, secretary; Mrs. M. McKern and Miss M. Tait, buying committee. Miss M. Siddall was re-elected treasurer.

Report of the secretary, Miss Irene Bannerman, showed that during the year the auxiliary had supplied the ward with 35 bed coats, 21 pairs of panties, four dozen each of cereal dishes, fruit dishes, soup bowls and tea plates, two dozen feeding dishes decorated in bright colors with pictures and nursery rhymes.

At Christmas the ward was specially decorated by the auxiliary and gifts presented to the children. Visits were also made to the ward each month.

$1,400 GIVEN

When the new children's ward was opened last February, the auxiliary presented a cheque for $1,400 to pay for equipment purchased for the ward.

Moneys were raised for these projects through home-cooking stalls, rummage sales, grocery raffles, a tag day and the annual Blossom Tea.

Treasurer's report, presented by Miss Siddall, showed the year's receipts as $2,334.62 and disbursements as $1,589.27.

Miss Alma Hill, retiring president, conducted a short business meeting prior to the annual election, when Miss Roxie Wilson, ward supervisor, reported 43 patients, and asked the auxiliary for two dozen pairs of slippers, four dozen dressing gowns and other supplies. It was also authorized to buy 72 yards of flannelette for diapers.

Mrs. M. Gunning was named convener of the auxiliary stall at the Doll's Bazaar and Jam bazaar in the Crystal Garden on Nov. 1, planned by the junior auxiliary to the hospital.

Creamed left-over minced meat, fish or poultry makes a substantial filling for tomatoes or green peppers. Any condensed cream soup (undiluted) may be used in place of the heavy cream sauce—cream of mushroom soup is particularly good. A colorful filling for either the red tomatoes or green peppers is whole kernel corn, fresh cooked or canned. A garnish of red pepper or pimento adds further to the color scheme.

Scottish War Veterans To Receive Medals At Colorful Public Ceremony Monday Night

For the second time in three decades next Monday night, veterans of "Victoria's Own"—the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's)—will parade to receive medals and stars in recognition of front-line battle service in a world war.

Provincial and civic dignitaries and high service officers have been invited to attend the colorful ceremony, an auspicious occasion in the rich history of an infantry regiment credited with distinguished service in the front lines of two world upheavals.

Scene of the presentation program will be Bay Street Armouries, home of the regiment, starting at 7.45, and Lieut.-Col. R. D. Travis, M.B.E., E.D., commanding officer of the First Battalion, has extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Brig. Fred N. Cabell, C.B.E., D.S.O. and Bar, E.D., will be the central figure in the ceremony. A soldier who climbed from the lower commissioned ranks in the Canadian Scottish's "Fighting First" to the rank of brigadier, he will present war medals and stars to 74 serving members of the regiment who served overseas in the Second World War.

Recipients will be veterans who are serving with the Reserve Army infantry battalion of the regiment.

Also to be present is another familiar figure to Scottish fighting men of the latest conflict.

This is a big, ambling Saint Bernard mascot Wallace, a name indelibly etched in the history record of the regiment.

Officially registered as K57000, Pte. Wallace also deserves medals—the C.V.S.M. and Clasp War Medals and Defence Medal.

The colorful wartime pipe band will be in action and Wallace will be in his usual place, in the centre of the front row of the marching, skirling pipers.

The regimental brass band will be on hand to provide incidental music.

All messes of the regiment will be open to guests following the ceremony.

Many relatives and friends of serving members and Scottish veterans generally are expected to be present. Balcony seats will be reserved for the public.

Parade to start the program is scheduled for 7.45 and the ceremony will begin at 8.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, honorary colonel of the regiment, has expressed his regrets at being unable to attend the ceremony as he will be out of town at the time. Premier Byron Johnson and members of the British Columbia government have been invited to attend, as has Mayor Percy George to represent the city.

Indications are that service heads in British Columbia will be present. Rear-Admiral H. D. DeWolf will represent the R.C.N. Army representative will be Brig.

M. P. Bogart, commanding B.C. area of the Canadian Army, and Brig. John M. Rockingham, commanding officer of the 15th Infantry Brigade, another man who rose to high rank from a small beginning in the Scottish regiment. Officer commanding the Services College at Royal Roads has also been extended an invitation.

Ex-commanding officers of the regiment and present regimental trustees will be among the distinguished guests attending.

The stars and medals to be awarded represent service in almost every theatre of operations.

Community Planning Needed In Large Housing Programs

MONTREAL (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Winters today termed sound community planning one of the most urgent requirements of Canada's large-scale housing program.

"A large house-building program by itself is not enough," Mr. Winters said. "Houses should be built on adequately sized lots, in well-planned subdivisions, and provided with ample facilities. The housing program must be integrated into and form part of a well-conceived plan for the development and improvement of the community itself."

Canada's record of planning and development "is not as good as many of us would like to see it," said the minister in an address to the City Improvement League of Montreal.

Many urban centres across Canada furnish examples of "haphazard and unsatisfactory" development, due to lack of planning, said Mr. Winters. He blamed lack of interest on the part of citizens in such areas as the cause.

"Unless more encouragement is given to those who are attempting to develop and implement community plans, the large-scale housing program and the rapid growth that will take place in the years immediately ahead will only serve to aggravate the unsatisfactory conditions that exist today and greatly increase the cost of correcting them at some future date."

Adequate community planning, said Mr. Winters, is primarily a provincial and local responsibility. The federal government, however, is interested and willing to co-operate within limitations imposed by the constitution.

STANDARDS SET

He said the government, under provisions of the National Housing Act, already had set standards for house building and lot size to "prevent shoddy construction and avoid unsatisfactory land use." It also endeavored to induce private builders and developers of large housing projects to adopt and apply modern community planning principles.

Mr. Winters said that of the 81,000-odd housing units completed in Canada last year, "almost every third house was built with one or other kind of government housing assistance."

Education Offers Twofold Purpose, Kiwanians Told

Education has a two-fold purpose. Minister of Education W. T. Straith said in an address at a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Education teaches a student how to live and how to make a living, he said, but these two were vastly different. In addition, the department of education was great in its encouragement for scholarship or cultural education.

Each year, $40,000 was put aside in a special fund marked for scholarships for veterans' children. Mr. Straith stated there were numerous applications for these scholarships each year. Also, there was a $100,000 fund for university-level students. To qualify, however, he said, the student need not necessarily be attending U.B.C.

Commenting on the values of the annual job-study essay contest sponsored yearly by the B.C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, Mr. Straith said this year, there were 50,000 students attending junior and senior high schools throughout the province, and that a total of 13,000 had filed application for the essay-contest bursaries offered to the writer of the best job-study.

These job-studies, were not necessarily on the occupation the student planned to pursue following his or her schooling, but could cover any industry or occupation. The Vancouver Board of Trade inaugurated these contests in an effort to bridge the gap between the period of school and work.

MANY KINDS OF DANCES PERFORMED BY AMERICAN INDIANS

Arizona is a dry state, and the people expect little rain. There come times, however, when the rain falls to fall for too long a time.

The Pueblo Indians of Arizona have been raising corn for many hundreds of years. Corn tends to grow well in hot, sunny weather, but there come times when even corn needs rain.

Long ago the custom of "dancing for rain" grew up among Pueblo Indians. It was supposed that the rain god would give the crops moisture if enough dancing were done.

Rain dances are performed to this day by Pueblo Indians. Sometimes they seem to "work," because rain comes down after they are over. It seems quite likely, however, that the rain would fall just the same without the dancing.

The rain dance is one example of the dances which are carried out by various tribes of Indians. The Pueblo Indians have a still more famous performance—the snake dance. In their hands they clutch living rattlesnakes, and the people who watch them wonder why they never seem to suffer from bites.

Tribes in various parts of North America perform dances. An old record tells of 32 kinds of dances in the Seneca tribe alone. Among those dances, 11 were performed by men only, and seven by women only. The other 14 were danced by both men and women.

When both men and women are in an Indian dance, it is the custom for the men to form one circle, the women another. The larger circle is made up of men, and the dancers in it move around an altar, stamping their feet as they do so.

The Indian women do much less stamping of feet than the men, but they sway a great deal as they move, and also hop from side to side.

The Indians who watch the others dance often chant a song. There also may be chanting by those who are dancing.

In past times the women of a tribe often held dances while their husbands were on the war-path. The purpose of such dances was to ask the safe return of their husbands, brothers, sons and fathers.

Farm Bill In U.S. Would Continue Crop Price Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders called for swift action today on a newly put-together farm bill giving the United States government broad power to support crop prices near present high levels indefinitely.

With the House of Representatives due to vote first, passage of the measure seemed certain before the wind-up of this session of Congress, expected tonight.

The bill would permit reductions in price supports for all but a few major commodities next year. However, it would give the agriculture department a choice between such action and maintenance of present support standards. In some cases, the actual supports would be higher than they are now.

The new program was produced by a conference committee Tuesday after many hours of haggling.

The measure apparently spells defeat—or at least a long delay—for Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan's plan to give U.S. consumers the benefit of unsupported farm prices, with the government paying subsidies to farmers to assure them a predetermined "fair" price for their products.

The Truman administration is not expected to give up its fight for the Brannan plan, however. The issue may prove to be an important one in the 1950 Congressional campaigns.

If the administration chooses to continue present support levels under the new program—as it is expected to—no substantial reduction in food costs can be expected, with the possible exception of beef, lamb and eggs.

The compromise plan provides no new method for handling costly surpluses. As is the case now, the government would buy up the surplus, remove it from the market and dispose of it abroad or in non-commercial outlets at home if it could. If the government couldn't dispose of it, it would have to take a loss.

ONE OF THE best fan magnets the wrestling clan has come up with in recent years, Gorgeous George is proving a popular figure with the faithful in the northwest. Monday night the show with the flowing locks and varied wardrobe performed before a packed house in Seattle. Now promoter Rocky Brooks tells me tickets for the local appearance of the scented "it" man of wrestling are selling like nylons during the war years.

GEORGE, WHO HAS made his "act" pay off in smart fashion even succeeded in crashing Madison Square Garden in New York. He took the first ransling show into the Gardens in several years. One of George's latest claims is that he wears a $250 gown gives to him by comedian Jack Benny. George gained most of his publicity for his appearances in Hollywood. For several months Gorgeous never moved far away from the movie centre as his drawing power was terrific. Apparently some of that attraction has worn off as George is now engaged in an extensive tour of the U.S. and Canada.

NUMBER OF SKATING enthusiasts have complained to the writer over the lack of public skating time at the new Memorial Arena. They point out that even the youngsters are squawking over the few periods devoted to skating. After looking over the skating schedule for the current week I am inclined to agree with the skaters. After all, the novelty has not worn off the sport and will continue throughout the present winter. The arena commission should have made allowances for tremendous interest in the winter. I hear that some nights the skate concession has not been able to provide sufficient rental skates for the number of people anxious to try their luck on the silver blades.

THERE IS EVERY indication that Victoria's traditional Boxing Day McKechnie Cup rugby match will go by the boards this year. Appears that neither Vancouver Rovers nor Varsity want to play here the day after Christmas. The mainlanders favor starting the cup series around the middle of January. It is possible the local union will arrange an exhibition match for Boxing Day.

Dechene Saves From Point Blank

Vancouver Canucks' goalie Lucien Dechene saw eight shots flash by him in last night's Coast Hockey League game against the Cougars, but on the above attempt by Eddie Mazur he blocked from close in. The flying puck can be seen at the left as it floats to the side of the net. Standing behind Mazur is Vancouver defenceman Chuck Millman.

Canadiens Battle Leafs In Full-Scale N.H.L. Program

All six clubs take the ice tonight in the first full-scale night of National Hockey League warfare since the new season started exactly one week ago.

The card includes the first clash of the season between the big-time two Canadian foes—Montreal-Canadiens versus the Maple Leafs at Toronto. The other games match New York Rangers against the Red Wings at Detroit and Chicago Black Hawks against the Bruins at Boston.

With only three points separating all six teams, the standing may be well scrambled by the verdicts.

Dick Irvin's Canadiens, victors of their two starts, will be meeting another unbeaten team in the Leafs, three-time Stanley Cup champions. Hay Day's Toronto team whipped Detroit 5 to 1 after tying Chicago 4 to 4.

The Leafs, after only two games of their 70-game schedule, are depleted by injuries.

FIVE PLAYERS LAID UP

Toronto has four forwards on the injury list. They are centre Bob Davies, out for several weeks; winger Bill Ezinicki, whose weak ankle may respond to treatment in time for the game; right-winger Howie Meeker, whose ankle is still swollen from a stick slash received in Detroit Sunday night, and left-winger Harry Watson, whose gimpy knee is reported on the mend.

In addition, defenceman Gus Mortson has a leg injury.

Defenceman Bill Juzda, the erstwhile New York Ranger, may be moved up to forward against Canadiens. He went well on the front line in a trial at Pittsburgh Monday night, when Leafs beat Hornets of the American Hockey League 4 to 0 in a benefit game for Baz Bastien.

Canadiens will introduce rookie Gilles Dube to Toronto fans. The N.H.L. newcomer plays right wing on a line with Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Elmer Lach, who changed his mind this fall after retiring last year. They'll also have Grant (Knobby) Warwick, obtained from Boston in an off-season deal.

Toronto could climb over Canadiens into first place by beating them tonight.

ADAMS DISSATISFIED

The third-place Red Wings take a one-loss one-win record into their game against Rangers. But Detroit manager Jack Adams doesn't think much of the record. In fact, he apologized in Detroit last night for the Wings' "disappointing showing" to date.

"Our club wasn't ready and I take the responsibility," said Adams, discussing the team's 2 to 1 victory over Boston and 5 to 1 loss to Leafs.

Adams disclosed that big Jack Stewart, all-star defenceman, is suffering from lumbago and may not play against the Rangers. Al Dewsbury was called up from Indianapolis as a possible replacement.

The Hawks and the Bruins both will be trying to get out of the cellar in their game at Boston. Each has a tie and a loss in two starts, leaving them in a triple-deadlock for last place with the Rangers.

Injury May Cost Gordon Glisson U.S. Jock Title

NEW YORK (AP)—A fractured collar bone could cost Gordon Glisson, darling of the $2 bettor, a chance to be the leading United States jockey in 1949.

The 19-year-old Winstboro, S.C. rider received the injury yesterday when he was thrown from the horse Marine Compo during the third race at Jamaica. Glisson had just booted home Isidore Biber's Alm in the second race to run his number of winners to 249 for the year.

Taken to hospital, X-rays disclosed the fracture of the right collar bone. Glisson will be out of action for an indefinite period. Steve Brooks, contract rider for Calumet Farm, is second leading U.S. rider this year with 203 winners.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Anton Raadik, 164, Estonia, outpointed Tony Di Meco, 168½, Chicago (10).

Seattle Boat Seeks World Speed Record

SEATTLE (CP)—A boat that outruns airplanes on Lake Washington is being groomed for an assault on Sir Malcolm Campbell's world record of 141.74 miles an hour.

Just how fast the Si-Mo-Shun IV actually traveled in its first secret tests the owner, S. S. Sayers, would not reveal today.

"We were flyin' low," he grinned.

Friends of the Seattle automobile dealer and his designers and builders have been sworn to secrecy, but among themselves they agree the water-walking streak of noise is ready for an official crack at Campbell's record. The pilot of a small sea-plan landed in a hurry and taxied to the Si-Mo-Shun IV after a test run.

"Do you know how fast you were going?" he shouted.

Sayers laughed. "We have an idea."

"I hit a hundred-ton and dived at you," the pilot marveled. "You weren't there."

(Earlier this month Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont., failed in his attempt to break Sir Malcolm's world mark and abandoned his try until next year. Wilson tried for a new mark in his Miss Canada IV.

(However, Miss Canada IV was able to set a North American record of 138.6 miles an hour during the test at Detroit, Ont.)

United To Meet Nanaimo Saturday

Victoria United will meet Nanaimo in a Pacific Coast Soccer League game at Athletic Park Saturday at 2.30. It was announced today.

The postponed game with Vancouver City will be played at the close of the first half-schedule.

No changes in the United line-up have been announced as yet, but there is an indication some new faces may appear for the locals in Saturday's game. The team will practice tomorrow night.

Weakened Saskatoon Hockey Club Holds Edmonton To Tie

SASKATOON (CP)—After three starts in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League, Saskatoon Quakers finally broke into the loop's points column last night with a 5 to 5 overtime deadlock with Edmonton Flyers who today are in undisputed possession of second place.

Quakers, looked on in pre-season estimates as a vastly-improved club from the one that dwelt in the loop cellar most of last season, appeared no better than in former days after dropping their first two games to the defending champion Regina Caps.

STARS ON SIDELINES

But despite appearances, Quakers were playing Flyers, who now have a win, loss and tie to their credit, under a handicap. Their two new star centres, former American Hockey League top scorer Tommy Burlingame and ex-Cap Chuck McCullough, were out of the line-up. Burlingame was benched with a broken thumb and McCullough still was in the middle of a tug-of-war between Caps and Quakers.

With these troubles, Quakers split five goals among Steve Gabor, Reg Bentley, Alex Kuzma, Cy Rouse and Billy Johnson, racing to a 2 to 0 lead in the first period.

Faced with this deficit, Don Culley, a newcomer to Edmonton ranks from Calgary Stampede, rapped in two goals while Steve Latoski, Freddie Smitten and Colin Kilburn kept Flyers in the running in a game in which the lead changed hands three times and was knotted four.

Boxing Club In Training Session

RUGBY PRESIDENT—New head of the Victoria Rugby Union is Sid Normington, who was elected to position at meeting Monday night. Normington says plans for McKechnie Cup and exhibition games with Vancouver will be announced following meeting with mainland officials within next two weeks.

With Georges Bougie and Eddie Mazur spearheading a deadly offensive, Victoria Cougars rose up last night to claw Vancouver Canucks 8 to 4 in their Pacific Coast Hockey League clash at the Memorial Arena and send 2,565 fans home happy as a bunch of youngsters after their first birthday party. It was a slam-bang type of game with plenty of goals and penalties to keep the customers on the edge of their seats all evening.

Bougie, a tireless worker both ways, became the first Cougar to pull off the hat-trick and picked up one assist for four scoring points. Mazur had two goals and a like number of assists for the same total. Larry Thibault also had a big night, drawing assists on three goals. Bernie Strongman, Roy McKay and Joe Evans each picked up two points.

Seven of the Cougars' goals were provided by the two main lines. The combination of Bougie, Thibault and Evans came up with nine scoring points while the trio of Mazur, Strongman and McKay had one less.

Cougars' Passing Improved

Passing of the Cougars was much sharper than in previous appearances with the boys apparently starting to click on their plays. Sound evidence of the smart passing was the fact that three of the Victoria Cougars drew double assists. As in previous games the Cougars continued to display plenty of aggressiveness and for the better part of the game carried the play to the Canucks.

Two of Vancouver's four goals were scored while the Cougars were playing with a man in the penalty box. Of the eight penalties handed out by referee Dick Davis the clubs split them. In the third period Davis came in for some solid cat-calling when he sent the popular Thibault to the sin bin on a charging penalty. The crowd really got worked up.

A pleasing feature of the Victoria victory was the exhibition turned in by goalie Jerry Fodey. The youngster looked his best yet and his work with his legs was vastly improved. Lucien Dechene in the Vancouver nets showed he still has his old weakness on high shots as three of them drifted by him, although one was of the screened variety. Cougars led 4 to 2 at the end of the first period and 5 to 2 after 40 minutes. Fodey came up with 17 saves and Dechene 20. Victoria had 28 shots on goal and Vancouver 21.

Taking a pass from Thibault, Bougie blasted a shoulder-high shot past Dechene after 34 seconds as many of the fans were hardly in their seats. Defenceman Eddie Marineau drew a high sticking penalty and Canucks tied the score, Larry Reardon slapping home Andy Chakowski's rebound at 4.12. McKay came up with his second goal of the season on a double assist by Strongman and Mazur to put the Cougars ahead again at 12.32. Canucks fought back and tied it up for the second time, Vernon Jones flashing the red light behind Fodey with Alan Kuntz getting an assist.

Score Two Quick Counters

That goal seemed to fire the Cougars as they marked up two goals in 29 seconds, Mazur and Gogean being responsible. Mazur's second counter was the only goal of the sandwich period, coming at 15.27.

Evans made it 6 to 2 on Bougie's pass out behind the goal at 1.50 of the third period. Canucks fought back for two goals by Shill and Carse, the latter coming with Thibault sitting out a penalty. Just to make victory certain, Bougie came through with his second and third goals as the fans gave him a terrific hand.

Cougars rest up until Friday night when they tackle Tacoma Rockets here. In their last meeting at the Washington city Muzz Patrick's club squeezed out a 4 to 3 triumph.

San Diego Tops Southern

Rusty Alkin singlisticked the San Diego Skyhawks into the leadership of the league's southern division last night.

The Skyhawk wingman turned in a three-goal hat trick to give San Diego a 3 to 1 victory over the Fresno Falcons.

The Oakland Oaks got into the victory column for the first time this season with a 5 to 3 win over the Los Angeles Monarchs. Bill Jones in the last minute of the second period and Larry Kennedy in the third got the two victory goals after the two teams had battled on even terms.

In the northern division goalie Doug Stevenson was credited with his first shutout of the season as the Tacoma Rockets beat the Portland Penguins 4 to 0.

Kramer To Continue Play Until Defeated

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's a great thing to be a champion," the professional tennis king, Jack Kramer, said today. "And I'm going to go right on playing until someone beats me."

Last year he trounced Bobby Riggs on an extended American tour. Now he is taking on the amateur titleholder, Pancho Gonzales. At stake, said promoter Riggs, is $100,000.

"When I get beat I might start a tennis school in Los Angeles," said Kramer. "I don't want to stick around and play after I get shellacked. I like to win. It's a good feeling when you leave the court a winner."

The Riggs professional tennis caravan opens its swing Oct. 25 in Madison Square Garden, New York, with Kramer facing Gonzales, and Pancho Segura playing Frankie Parker. Segura and Gonzales, the two stars of Latin extraction, will play Parker and Kramer in doubles.

Riggs figures the $100,000 jackpot this way—"The winner of this tour is in line for a tour next year. The loser . . . and he shrugged his shoulders. Gonzales, who beat Ted

Another Way To Lose Winning Race Wager

NEW YORK (AP)—There are a lot of ways to lose a horse race and a $2 bet. With only one-sixteenth of a mile left, it looked as if Abram S. Hewitt's Cornwall would win the $10,000 Remsen Handicap yesterday at Jamaica.

But George D. Widener's Lights Up charged up to grab the honors by a neck. The customers wondered why Jockey Bobby Strange didn't unlimber his whip and whack Cornwall.

Strange explained later that when he raised the whip, a short piece of string at the end of the bat got caught in his collar. He couldn't yank it loose in time to hit the horse.

Bucky Harris Signs As Washington Pilot

BUCKY HARRIS

WASHINGTON (UP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris signed a three-year contract today to manage the Washington Senators, marking the third time he had taken over the team as pilot.

Clark Griffith, owner of the American League baseball club, announced the signing.

No details of the contract other than its length were announced. But Griffith said that Harris will receive more than the $17,000 the former "boy wonder" of the Senators got for managing the San Diego Pacific Coast League club last season.

Harris succeeds Joe Kuhel, who was fired by Griffith Oct. 3. Harris' last major league job was with the New York Yankees in 1948, a year he finished third. In 1947, he led the Yankees to the American League pennant.

Harris, former star second baseman for the Senators, also has managed the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Phillies.

NO NEGLIGENCE

DETROIT (AP)—County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said Tuesday night he had ruled that no criminal negligence was involved in the ring death of Talmadge Bussey, Detroit boxer.

Bussey died Oct. 10 after a bout with Luther Rawlings of Chicago.

King, Cantor Register Wins In London Ring

LONDON (CP)—L. Arthur King of Toronto easily defeated Tommy McGovern of Bermuda Tuesday night in a dull 10-round lightweight bout in Royal Albert Hall.

For the Canadian negro it was a tune-up for a London defence of his Empire title next month against an unspecified opponent. Last night's fight was a non-title affair, with both boxers weighing 137, over the limit for the division.

Although King fought in the final slot, the card was highlighted by a spectacular battle between Solly Cantor, Toronto lightweight, and Ellis Ask, former Finnish featherweight titlist who has moved up one weight class.

SMART RECORD

Cantor, using a brilliant overhand left, kept his record in British rings untarnished in an eight-round go that had some 5,500 fight fans on their feet cheering at the finish. Both fighters weighed 134½.

Cantor feigned his overhand shots with a jabbing left which continuously straightened up his crouching foe. Ask persisted gamely in boxing in with short rights and lefts to Cantor's body. He had the Toronto fighter in trouble in the sixth and eighth rounds, opening a cut over Cantor's eyebrow which flowed freely during the final minutes of the fight.

But each time the 21-year-old Canadian came back to knock the Finn off balance and gain a breathing space by use of his left hand, which ring-wise British fans applauded to the echo.

Night Horse Racing Makes Chicago Debut

CHICAGO (AP)—Night thoroughbred horse racing, made legal this year, started in Chicago last night.

A crowd of 8,067 saw this turf history being made at Sportsman's Park, popular half-mile track at suburban Cicero.

The sun set at 5:04 p.m. and shortly thereafter the cozy racing plant was bathed in brilliance from lights installed last spring by a trotting horse association, which holds a 20-year lease for annual harness meets. The lights were used for the eighth race.

The 10-horse field for the first lighted thoroughbred event had no difficulty negotiating the sharp turns in the 1 1/16-mile race which was won by William H. Bishop's High Mayer. The winner paid $10.20.

Under the new law, running race meetings can be held either day or night.

Massachusetts Puts LaMotta Beyond Pale

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Boxing Commission Tuesday night reported middleweight champion Jake LaMotta of New York has been suspended "in co-operation with the New York state commission."

A spokesman for the Massachusetts board explained: "We have a working agreement with New York, as we have with other states, and if a boxer is suspended there for any reason we add him to our list, provided he's licensed here."

LaMotta, who won his title from Marcel Cerdan, was classified as "ill and unavailable" by New York, where the length of his suspension was not noted in the official bulletin.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Kellner, who won 20 games for Philadelphia Athletics this season, originally was signed for $50 by the Tucson, Ariz., club, then a Cincinnati farm club. The Reds' bigwigs thought Alex was "too fat and too thick across the chest" to become a good pitcher, so they let him go for peanuts after Kellner refused to play for the same.

SAFETY FIRST

Michigan State claims to have the smallest big-time football tackle in 178-pound Don Coleman, but the Spartans found out a year ago that he's plenty rough. . . . It was when Jayvee Coach George Makris asked for some yearlings to scrimmage his lads. . . . In about five plays, Coleman had stacked junior varsity players all over the field and was looking for more when Makris yelled: "Get that guy out of here; he's ruining my team."

Jack Dempsey, branching out as a movie producer, unveils his first offering tomorrow. Automobile racing is the background for the first of Jack's one-year sports films. . . . And the one-reeler featuring heavyweight Roland Lastaria will be previewed next Monday at the International Boxing Club offices. Syracuse University's pretty drum majorette, Dorothy Grover, was "recruited" when some of the Syracuse lads saw her doing a "guest" performance at Colgate, an all-male school. . . . Dorothy also is an expert water skier, so we suppose the inducement was room and two boards.

Senior B Game On Cage Card Tonight

Three games are scheduled in the Victoria and District Basketball Association tonight at the High School gym. . . . Feature game at 9 pits Knott and Elford against R.C.E.M.E. in a men's senior B clash. . . . St. Louis College meets Tillmans in a junior boys' preliminary at 7 followed by an intermediate A men's game between Eight Aces and Victoria High School at 8.

Calgary Stamps' Graham Continues To Lead Scoring

WINNIPEG (CP)—With less than two weeks of league play remaining, Vern Graham, Calgary Stampeders' high-flying backfielder, has built up a substantial lead in the individual scoring race of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press show the Calgary homebrew has totaled 51 points, 16 better than two Saskatchewan Roughriders players—Sammy Pierce and Del Warden—each with 35 points. And Graham has a game in hand, with Calgary having four games left and Riders only three.

Riders' Pat Santucci, former Hamilton Tiger star, holds fourth spot with 27 points. Calgary's Rod Pantages, with a gain during the week of 11 points, moved into fifth position with 26. Matt Anthony, Rider end, follows with 25 points. Santucci was sidelined last week with injuries, while Anthony failed to garner any points.

The last four spot of the Big Ten are filled out by two Californians, a Rider and a member of the last-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers, each tied with 20 points. They are Woody Strode and Harry Hood of Stamps, Ken Charlton of Riders, and Bob Sandberg of Bombers.

Strode and Sandberg were scoreless during the week, while Charlton advanced 11 points and Hood five.

Onslow Will Know Today If He Still Has White Sox Berth

CHICAGO (UP)—Anxious Jack Onslow, anxious to know whether or not he'll manage the Chicago White Sox again in 1950, was due to hear the verdict today from a two-man jury which was out deliberating most of the night.

Vice-president Charlie Comiskey of the White Sox and general manager Frank Lane burned the midnight oil last night deciding whether or not Onslow will serve out the last year of his two-year contract next season.

Their decision will be announced today. If Onslow stays, that's all there is to it. But if he is fired, he will have to be paid off for the 1950 season.

Lane said yesterday that he and Comiskey had considered three men to become manager of the team should they decide on a change. He added that one of the trio had been picked and negotiations completed for him to take over, should there be need of a new manager.

Lane said the three men that he and Comiskey had considered in the final selection of the possible replacement were Del Baker, Paul Richards, and "another man we can't identify because he's connected with another ball club."

Produces Evidence That Negroes Played Organized Ball In 1888

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UP)—Photographic, documentary and eye-witness evidence was unearthed today to prove that Negroes played in organized baseball as early as 1888.

It had been generally accepted that Jackie Robinson was the first Negro player in organized ball when he signed with the Montreal Royals of the International League in 1946.

Brooklyn president Branch Rickey, who signed Robinson, openly boasted that the fleet infielder was the first Negro to play in organized ball.

But there was proof today that two Negroes, listed in the record books only as "R. Higgins, pitcher," and "Walker, infielder," played with Syracuse, N.Y., in 1888 in the International Association, forerunner of the present International League.

Photographic evidence was produced by Ernest (Duke) Landgraf, 70-year-old president of the North Atlantic League and former owner of the Newark and Syracuse ball clubs.

Landgraf's musty photograph, which he intends presenting to baseball's Hall of Fame, clearly shows two Negro players—Higgins and Walker—among the players of Syracuse's 1888 team.

SAW THEM PLAY

Bill Dineen, who served as an American League umpire from 1902 to 1938, insists he saw the two Negro players in action.

Dineen, born, bred and currently residing in Syracuse, said emphatically: "Of course, those two Negro boys—Higgins and Walker—played with Syracuse. I know, because I saw them both. They were exceptionally fine players, too, but the big leagues wouldn't buy them because they were colored."

"Syracuse was in organized baseball at the time, and even though I was a youngster at the time, I remember those two boys were the stars of the team."

Landgraf, who lives in Allen town, was just as certain as Dineen that Higgins and Walker played with Syracuse, a club he owned in 1920.

"I was at Cooperstown last summer," Landgraf declared, "when I mentioned to Rickey that Jackie Robinson wasn't the first Negro player in organized baseball. I told him about Higgins and Walker who played in the International Association."

"Then Rickey said to me, 'There never was any such league as the International Association.'"

"But Ford Frick, the National League president, who was standing nearby, said, 'Oh, yes, there was an International Association, Branch'."

"Well, Rickey didn't say anything then."

"Mind you, Rickey is a friend of mine and I don't want to start any controversy with him but what's right is right. I have the picture to prove it."

WON CHAMPIONSHIP

Both Dineen and Landgraf agreed that Higgins and Walker are dead. There have been tales that other Negroes have played in organized ball under the guise of Hawaiians and Cubans but never as negroes.

The International Association in 1888 consisted of Syracuse, which won the championship. Rochester, Buffalo, Albany, Troy in New York and Toronto, London and Hamilton in Ontario. Organized baseball then operated under the national agreement which later became the present National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Among the former big league players who worked under Landgraf at Syracuse are Jim Bottomley, Sparky Adams and George (Specs) Toporcer. The team's first baseman and manager was Frank Shaughnessy, current president of the International League.

Directed by Victor W. Mills

This famous satirical comedy, the first full production of the Victoria Players' Guild, met with instantaneous success Tuesday, when a first-night audience at the Sirocco endorsed the clever acting and staging with favorable comment and plenty of hearty laughter.

Victor W. Mills, carrying the dual responsibility of title role and direction, showed his capability in both departments. Wearing an excellent make-up, complete with beard, he alternately sulked and raved, hurling electrifying insults in all directions with jovian impartiality. While one had to admit that he was no Yankee, and that his cue pick-up slowed the pace in several scenes, one had also to applaud him for a well-developed, authentic portrait of an egomaniac.

DELIGHTFUL, MEMORABLE

The large cast was, in every respect, quite adequate, but there were several performances that went a great deal further and were not only delightful, but memorable. Margaret Lennox, for instance, proved to be a gifted actress with an unusually good sense of timing and projection. Her glamorous appearance and lush excitability were exactly right for the "hustress-actress" she portrayed.

Noel Cusack in an effective make-up, supplied an entrancing bit of comedy to the play as the weird Stanley sister. The three comedians, Mickey Francis, Alec McCowen and Jerry Gossie, gave a fine account of themselves. The scene in which Whiteside and Banjo endeavor to trap Lorraine in the wonderful mummy case, is highly entertaining.

As Whiteside's secretary, Helen Smith, had a long role to which she brought a sympathetic quality and natural charm. Betty MacKinnon and Donald Jacobs were among others who did good work in supporting roles.

A well-designed and professionally executed set was a great help to the players. Lighting problems had been cleverly solved and furniture and properties well chosen.

The production will be repeated tonight, Thursday and Friday at the Sirocco, and with a whipped-up tempo in the first and last acts, should be an outstanding event on the local amateur stage.

Careless driving case of Wilbur A. Mais, 1803 Cook Street, was remanded to Dec. 9 without plea in city police court this morning. Lengthy remand was given because the woman who was in collision with Mais' car Oct. 8 will be confined to hospital for six or eight weeks. The injured woman in Mrs. Belle Hyde, 1106 Broad Street, a pedestrian.

Victoria Mother Ottawa-Bound To Get Son's D.F.C.

Late this month Mrs. Flora Fernyhough, 422 Boleakine Road, will leave for Ottawa to receive the posthumous Distinguished Flying Cross award made to her second-eldest son, Walter, killed in air operations over Europe in 1944. Award will be made Nov. 7 in the Dominion capital.

Pilot Officer Walter Fernyhough was awarded the D.F.C. a few days before his death on June 29, 1944.

The citation received by his parents says the award was made for great gallantry in the performance of his duty in operations against the enemy.

"He displayed the utmost fortitude, courage and devotion to duty," the citation reads.

Richard and Flora Fernyhough had three pilot sons in the air force during the war.

Eldest son, Richard, was a flying officer overseas and was sent back on sick leave in May, 1944. The third son, William, a flight-sergeant, served with the air force in Canada. Freddy, the fourth son, now aged 21, is at U.B.C. and is with the auxiliary air force.

Mrs. Fernyhough is a member of the Victoria branch of the Next-of-Kin Association, a nationwide organization to assist parents and kinsfolk of service men and women who died in action overseas in the Second World War.

One of the aims of the association is to find means to assist next-of-kin to visit overseas graves of their sons.

The local branch is seeking members. Branches in other parts of Canada are reported to have strong membership rolls.

Patrick J. Sinnott, acting city prosecutor, told the court accused's car struck a parked one owned by Frank Doherty, driving it into a pole. Trace was granted time to pay the fines, $35 for the driving charge and $25 for the failing to remain charge.

THE MAN THE POLICE
FORGOT

DOLLIMORE WHISTLED: "I'd completely forgotten about him. I haven't set eyes on him today. The maid said that he was still here, though."

"The rat!" Sadie Pachmann cried. "Of course it was him."

"So it was Jones who let her out," said Ducros, who was following the examination very closely.

"I don't know," Mrs. Lawes replied. "It might have been. I think it must have been."

"Could he have got the keys," Dollimore persisted.

"I suppose he could."

"Is Jones one of the gang, Sadie?" Ducros asked in what was apparently a friendly tone.

"A double-crosser," she snarled. "Then I rather that he was," Ducros said evenly.

"You don't love Mr. Jones, evidently," Dollimore said with a smile.

"I do not," said Sadie, and the expression on her hard face showed the truth of her words.

"Now come on, where can we pick him up? We want a chat with him badly," Dollimore said.

"He's worked with Fernandez for years."

"And he felt that it was dangerous to go on doing so, apparently," Dollimore put in.

"His name isn't Jones," he wanted in New York. Sam Foyer—make a note of the name. You'll find out plenty about him. Plenty."

"Thanks. You can't say at what hour during the morning Miss Stenning got away?"

"No. Jones was here just before lunch—but he hasn't had his lunch," Mrs. Lawes said.

"He was sitting at the table in the kitchen about 11, and I saw him in the hall some time after that. I haven't seen him since."

"That means he was probably here after Miss Stenning had gone?" Ducros asked.

The elder woman considered the question: "Yes. It does," she said.

"That he didn't go with her?" Ducros pursued. "Why did he help her to escape?"

"He had quarrelled with Fernandez this morning. They were shouting at each other; I thought they'd fight. They quarrelled about the old lady who was killed."

MARY APPEARS
At that moment the phone bell rang.

"Yes," Ducros replied in a thick, guttural voice which was evidently meant to be an imitation of Fernandez: "Oh, it's you, sir," he went on in his normal voice.

"She's with you there? Good! We found the room where they had kept her just now. No, sir. I'm expecting a call from Rolliester the solicitor—at any moment. I have arrested Fernandez already, sir. Very good, sir. I'll ring you as soon as we hear."

Slowly he replaced the receiver. "Miss Stenning is at the Yard with her cousin," he said.

"She's safe!" Dollimore exclaimed.

"You two women are under arrest," Ducros said. "You will be taken to Mossford police station at once."

"Why?" demanded Sadie Pachmann.

"On suspicion of being concerned in the murder of Mrs. Lawes."

"But you promised..." Mrs. Lawes burst out.

"I promised that if you told us what you knew I would do my best to help you," Ducros said.

"So I shall when I'm satisfied that you have told us all that you know. For the moment, however, it is my duty to arrest you. You're not bound to make any statement, and it is my duty to warn you that, if you do, it may be used in evidence against you."

"Sure it would!" snapped Sadie.

"Ah!" the exclamation left Ducros's lips as the telephone rang again.

"Yes," he said in the guttural tone he had previously used. "Fernandez here."

SADIE INTERVENES
Sadie Pachmann was near the desk on which the telephone was standing. She watched the proceedings apathetically. Dollimore's eyes were on Ducros and for the moment no one noticed what the American was doing.

With a quick, almost a feline movement, she snatched the instrument from Ducros's hand.

The desk was between them, and before either of the men could reach her had shouted into the telephone: "Danger. Cut and run. This is Sadie..."

With that she replaced the telephone on the desk and faced the two detectives triumphantly.

"You thought what a clever little fellow you were, didn't you?" she said with an impudent smile.

"But we shall get him," Ducros said. "Have them taken to the local station," he went on to Dollimore.

When Dollimore returned two minutes later Ducros was once more talking to the Chief. He told him exactly what had happened when Rolliester's call had come through, and listened, a little grimly, to the comments his information called up.

"Come up at once," the Chief concluded. "We'll start the machine running at once. There shouldn't be a great deal of difficulty over Rolliester but the other fellow may be a nuisance. No wait! Let me think. Dollimore there?"

"Dollimore," Ducros said and handed the telephone to his colleague.

"Dollimore speaking, sir."

"So she's tricked you!" the Chief said.

"Fraid so, sir. It was more my fault than Ducros'."

"It's nobody's fault. She's a cunning woman. Who do you think is posing as the murdered woman's son?"

"Flash Cardew... if my theory is sound. I have suspected it for some time."

CORRECT SUSPICIONS
"You were right, Miss Stenning recognized Cardew's picture when I showed it to her this afternoon, as the man whom Rolliester brought down to Mossford as John Lewin. There's rather a lot of work to be done before the case is water-tight but if we can get hold of Rolliester and Cardew I fancy we've got the whole gang. You might be able to get another line on the case from the woman Lawes. She seems a talker."

"I doubt it, sir. I don't think she was ever really one of them."

"See... anyway, and then report here to me. Ask Ducros to come up at once. He'll have every available man in London on the hunt, before the night is out."

"Very good, sir," Dollimore said as he replaced the receiver. He told Ducros what the Chief had said.

"If that woman hadn't played us up I believe they'd have walked right into the trap. I should be on my way home this evening. As it is, I shall probably be at that cursed office all night. Confound Sadie Pachmann!"

UNDER-ARREST
Female prisoners of any kind were rare at Mossford police station, and never before had such a distinguished one as Sadie Pachmann graced the drab, depressing building. The wife of the station sergeant had taken upon herself the duties of a wardress, and in characteristic British fashion, had given the prisoners a cup of tea very soon after their arrival.

When Dollimore arrived he had made up his mind that it was merely wasting time to attempt to get anything out of Sadie Pachmann—she was Flash Cardew's wife, and, apparently, a very loyal wife, in spite of his unsavory record and character.

The station sergeant's wife ushered Mrs. Lawes into the little office and stood, hesitatingly, in the doorway.

"All right," Dollimore said to her with a smile. "This is going to be a confidential chat. Not even your daughter shall know what happens unless you tell her." He went on when the station sergeant's wife had withdrawn.

She watched him in silence. "They've made you fairly comfortable here, Mrs. Lawes?" he began.

"You said that I shouldn't be arrested," she almost spat the words at him.

"Inspector Ducros said he would do his best for you as, I assure you, he will. The arrest was on instructions; we had no choice in the matter. Now I'll put my cards on the table. You and Sadie are in a jam."

"You're telling me!" she retorted.

BY HOLLOWAY HORN

"I'm making no promises where Sadie is concerned; I can't. It all depends to what extent she is really implicated in the murder."

"She isn't in it at all," Mrs. Lawes said, quietly.

"She must have known who did it. It was one of the bunch. But I'm quite certain you were not concerned in it. You were not in the club that night at all."

"I was a hundred miles away and can prove it."

"But you are implicated in the kidnapping of Miss Stenning and that, I needn't tell you, is a very serious offence."

"She was shut up there when I got to the club."

Dollimore nodded: "But you did your part in keeping her there. You knew she was there against her will."

Mrs. Lawes was silent.

"That means a pretty stiff sentence," he went on. "And probably deportation at the end of it."

"No, it doesn't. My second husband is English. Sadie's father was an American. But what is all this leading up to?"

"This. We want Rolliester, the solicitor. He's at the bottom of the whole business."

"And Cardew?"

He hesitated: "Of course," he said. "But particularly Rolliester."

"They're always together. And they're devils. Sadie must have been mad to have married him!"

"I agree. And what use is he ever likely to be to her?" Dollimore asked.

"Or ever has been," Mrs. Lawes said. "She wasn't a bad girl until she met him, Mr. Dollimore—she really wasn't."

"I can believe that. You wouldn't burst into tears if we got them, you know."

"You're right—I wouldn't. But, even if I could give them away, I can't do it without giving Sadie away as well."

"If we got them—through any assistance you give us, I mean—I will promise to do my best to give Sadie a break. I can put the facts before the Chief and what he says usually goes. It's no use my saying that if we get them Sadie will walk out; it isn't in my power. But I will do my best to see that she gets a break."

"She's got no chance while those devils are free to get at her."

"If we get them, they may never come out," he said quietly. "Certainly not for a very long time."

Van Johnson Sings In Film At Capitol

Van Johnson sings again. After several seasons of drama and straight comedy, Johnson now warbles a duet with Judy Garland in their co-starring Technicolor musical, "In the Good Old Summertime," now at the Capitol Theatre.

Their song is the old-time hit, "Put Your Arms Around Me, Honey," sung by the pair in a music-shop sequence.

Missing To Vancouver Mystery

Bound For U.S. Wedding

On board the liner Queen Elizabeth sailing for New York are the Marquis of Milford Haven and his fiancée, Mrs. Romaine Simpson. They will be married in the United States, probably at the end of November. The giant British liner was among the many vessels battered by the mid-Atlantic hurricane Tuesday. Now past the storm area, she will dock 12 hours behind schedule.

Albertans Digging Out After Big Snowstorm

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—South Albertans today were digging themselves out of an exceptionally heavy October snowstorm, with a prayer against high winds.

By the time the storm stopped shortly after 3 a.m. today, southern Alberta had received snowfall ranging from one foot to 20 inches, the heaviest fall being received in and about Lethbridge. Light and fluffy, the snow was ready to drift and pack with any stiff winds and presented a possible danger of bottling up virtually all of southern Alberta.

The danger of the snow drifting and blocking roads resulted in many schools in the district being closed today. Officials were anxious to avoid the risk of having children come to school and then possibly not being able to return home late in the afternoon.

U.S. COAST WEATHER

SEATTLE (AP)—Washington State thermometers dropped like a bearish stock market early today, but the weather man held out hopes that the cold snap soon would give way to warmer readings.

Early morning readings showed a nippy 20 at Yakima in central Washington, and 23 at Olympia. Walla Walla and Spokane registered 24 and Tacoma 25.

Seattle's 29 minimum made it the city's coldest Oct. 19 ever recorded. A rise of about 10 degrees is forecast for tonight. Numerous points east of the Cascades reported snow flurries during the last two nights.

Chinese Financiers Ready To Pull Out Of Hongkong

HONGKONG (UP)—Chinese Nationalist banks and other financial agencies reportedly are preparing today to leave Hongkong quickly in anticipation that British recognition of the Chinese Communist regime is imminent.

It was feared that the recognition agreement would call for the British to surrender to the Communists all Nationalist holdings in Hongkong.

Planes of the China Air Transport Company are preparing to fly cash reserves and other valuables to Formosa and Hainan Island immediately.

Among the Nationalist government organs closing immediately are the Central Trust and the Bank of China.

High-ranking personnel have been alerted to leave at any moment. Employees have been notified they will be given free transportation to Formosa and Hainan or, if they wish to remain, nine months severance pay on resignation.

A survey of the Chinese frontier indicated meanwhile that Chinese Communist troops are taking extreme care to avoid any border incidents with the British. The main body of Communist troops scheduled to take over formal occupation of the frontier is being held back until precise instructions are received from top Communist political leaders, according to Communist officers.

The officers, stationed at Po

Kut, five miles north of the main border crossing point of Shumchun, said Communist field commanders consider the border an international problem and are careful to avoid anything that might cause incidents.

Advance forces which occupied Shumchun last Monday are friendly in attitude and are seen walking arm in arm with Nationalist soldiers waiting for higher officers to arrive before surrendering themselves in formal ceremonies.

Some 40,000 British soldiers meanwhile are still engaged in manoeuvres in the new territories north of Hongkong with equipment that includes heavy tanks.

Reports from the interior of China said that 300,000 Communist troops are manoeuvring into position to stage a two-pronged drive on the Nationalist co-capital Chungking from the north and south.

These reports said that the Communists are opposed by only 100,000 Nationalist troops. Reports from Amoy said other Communist forces there are massing new fleets of junk for an assault on the big Nationalist naval base in the Chusan Islands, about 150 miles south-east of Shanghai.

Nationalist planes which have been making numerous raids on Shanghai are based in the Chusan Islands, as are Nationalist warships maintaining the sea blockade of Shanghai.

Footballers Deny Rotherinn Barbara

EDMONTON, Alta. (UP)—Members of the Edmonton Eskimos football squad were having a big laugh today over Mrs. Clyde Scott, mother of Canada's famous skating queen, Barbara Ann.

She said in Vancouver Tuesday night that "boisterous" members of the team gave Barbara Ann little rest Sunday night aboard a westbound C.N.R. train out of Winnipeg.

This, she said, was the reason she didn't want the skating star to get up about an hour before noon Monday and meet the press when the train passed through Edmonton.

"We weren't even on the train," said the Eskimos today. "We played a game in Calgary Saturday night and returned home Sunday morning on a C.P.R. train."

Salem Fans May Purchase Ball Team

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Salem baseball fans will make their final decision next Monday night on whether to buy the Salem baseball club from the Portland Beavers.

A five-man committee representing the fans offered $60,000 for the club yesterday. But William Mulligan, general manager of the Beavers, said the offer is too low.

Rocket Launcher?

Motorists on the outskirts of Dallas, Texas, kept expecting this tall, rocket-shaped thing to take off. Having seen pictures of the rocket launchings at White Sands, N.M., they called the papers to find out when this one would be launched. The papers investigated and found the "rocket" was one of the legs for a huge water tower being built at a housing development.

Dominion Leading With Unification Of Armed Services

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is leading the world on the road to unification, and co-ordination of the various branches of the armed services.

This claim is contained in the report of the National Defence Department for the year ending March 31, 1949, tabled today in the Commons.

"Canada has proceeded further in military unification than any other country, but the system is under constant examination with a view to improvement," the report says.

The 109-page brochure, reporting on every phase of Canadian military activity, said that in training and operations the year was the most active since the Second World War.

The navy during the year carried out manoeuvres with the British and American fleets; the army converted one unit to a parachute air transport battalion and continued work on adapting itself to northern operations; and the air force flew 2,250,000 miles in transport operations while taking part in more than 100 rescue missions.

Police Investigate Belief Of Mother, Son Met Foul Play

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Police today investigated a mother's theory that her missing son is a victim of foul play.

Thomas Ivens, 20, disappeared from his home here Sept. 17—the same night as the disappearance of Vancouver cashier Joyce Monasterski.

"He had never been away from home," said his mother, Mrs. A. M. Ivens. "He always left a note for me when he went out. I'm sure he is the victim of foul play."

Police said an investigation was under way. They doubted an earlier theory the youth was an amnesia victim.

Like Miss Monasterski, whose body was found on a West Vancouver beach Oct. 8, young Ivens left a bank account untouched. He had only $2.50 when he disappeared. He also failed to pick up a salary cheque.

Man Questioned, Released

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police today released a 36-year-old restaurant caterer taken into custody following the inquiry into the mysterious death of Saskatchewan-born Joyce Monasterski.

Miss Monasterski disappeared Sept. 17 and her nude body was found on a West Vancouver beach Oct. 8.

The 25-year-old girl, born in Yorkton, Sask., and a war worker in Toronto before coming here four years ago, was a cashier at the Stanley Park pavilion.

At the inquest Tuesday, Dr. Harold Dyer, the coroner, called it a case of murder.

"She was murdered... put in the water—unconscious or dead... Death was caused by asphyxiation..."

Bloodhound's Lead Right In Search For Missing Man

Mark up a score for Sir Roderick of Ogden, man-tracking bloodhound of the South Vancouver Island Rangers.

It was shown today that the dog's ability to track a person down was keen on Oct. 8 when he led his handlers four times in succession to the shores of Cowichan Lake on the trail of William Charles Boys, 68-year-old

Youbou resident, missing since early the previous morning.

The bound was taken off the job and fruitless days were spent searching a wide area around Youbou for the missing man.

Today Colin Campbell of Youbou found Boys' body in the lake. Handlers of the dog on that night-tracking job told the Times they felt confident Boys' body would be found in the lake after Sir Roderick had insisted this was the case.

The Island Rangers hope the public will have greater confidence in the dog in future.

Soviet Subscribes For B.C. Paper

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—The Alaska Highway News, Fort St. John's weekly paper, has a new subscriber—Soviet Russia.

Publisher D. G. Murray said the subscription had been received from the Soviet embassy in Ottawa and was for three months.

Mr. Murray said G. Voloshko, assistant military attache for the U.S.S.R. at Ottawa, is gathering newspapers from many northern points, especially the Alaska Highway-Fairbanks area.

Asks If Telephone Increase Opposed

OTTAWA (CP)—E. D. Fulton (P.C., Kamloops) wants to know if the government is going to oppose applications for rate increases by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada and the British Columbia Telephone Company.

Mr. Fulton today placed a question to this effect on the Commons order paper.

Mixed Up Weather Hits S. California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mother Nature threw the book at southern California today. Cold, wintry winds uprooted trees, beached boats, kicked up blinding dust storms and dashed huge waves over the sea wall at nearby Redondo Beach.

There were scattered showers and in high, mountainous regions snow fell.

Temperatures took a drop, but the winds kept them above freezing except in the mountain areas. Mile-high Mt. Wilson with 22 was the coldest early morning spot. Los Angeles airport reported 47 and nearby Burbank 43.
